County leads race in land control battle

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake County is zeroing in on a lucrative sewer contract that will mean millions to the county as the full board of the Northern Illinois Planning District (NIPC) recommended conditional support for the Lake County plan.

The next step in the process goes to Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) for its approval. The IEPA will decide after it reviews all the testimony and records of the NIPC meetings for the Northeast Facilities Planning Area (FPA).

Antioch, Lindenhurst, Lake County and Northshore Sanitary District are all vying for the contract. The winner of this contract will serve an area of over 50,000 acres from Wadsworth to the east, to the Wisconsin border to the north highway 45 and 173 to the west.

This land will also include the new Abbott Laboratories property.

Penny Wenstrom, a planner for NIPC, said the full board agreed with the recommendation of the water committee earlier in June. It recommends conditional approval for Lake County, conditional approval of Lindenhurst for its current sewer district, and non-support for Antioch's and Northshore's plans.

Lake County Supervisor Bob Depke hailed the recommendation.

"It is a victory for the citizens of Lake County for now and the future. Our plan has land use of two and two and a half houses per acre which is a lot less than some other municipalities' plans.

"North Shore said in its plan it didn't care about density, it just treats sewer. This plan allows the unincorporated areas a choice in where they would like to be annexed to whether its Antioch, Old Mill Creek, or Wadsworth," Depke said.

Lindenhurst is unhappy with the recommendation.

"Our plan is the most cost effective for the planning area, said Village Administrator James Stevens. "We maintain if they look at topography and gravity flow of sewers ours is the best plan."

Antioch officials maintained the Lake County plan is the best choice because it would keep the population density down. They have said their plan is their second choice, and only if the Lake County plan is rejected.

Lake County also has been designated the lead agency for an 18-month study to determine a complete and thorough facilities plan for sewage treatment for the Northeast FPA. The NIPC wants the affected local governments, Antioch, Old (Continued on page 16)

America's birthday will feature apple pie contest

by CLAUDIA M. LENART
Lakeland Newspapers

Grandma's secret apple pie recipe could be worth local fame and a little bit of fortune at Antioch's first annual Apple Pie Baking Contest, sponsored by the ABC Party, as part of Fourth of July activities.

"We chose to have an apple pie baking contest because apple pie is as American as the Fourth of July. It symbolizes, fundamental values on which our country was founded and the Fourth of July is a good time to remember and celebrate those values," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug, who is chairing the contest along with village Trustee Dorothy Larson.

The contest will feature two categories, traditional two-crust apple pie and Dutch apple pie. Each contestant will be asked to bake two pies and bring them to (Continued on page 9)

Alpine village nickname may belong in the past

LAKE ZURICH—The Alpine Village may no longer be an accurate nickname for Lake Zurich as an committee of business owners and village officials appears to be opting for flexibility in architectural standards for the downtown area. Members of the plan commission, the business improvement committee and the board of trustees met last week to discuss how the downtown area should look.

Libertyville board takes steps to slow Golf traffic

LIBERTYVILLE — The village board took measures Tuesday evening to control the speed and volume of traffic along Golf Road between Butterfield Rd. and Milwaukee Avenue. After a report by the street committee the board voted to reduce the speed limit to 25 miles per hour, post "two-lane, no passing" signs and to stripe the street with a double yellow line in the center and marked parking along the curbs.

Jermasek crowned queen in Grayslake

GRAYSLAKE—A second-grader at Woodview School, competing in her first pageant, is the new Little Miss Grayslake. "I'm totally surprised. We went into this with the attitude of 'this is no big deal, she is here to have fun,'" Doug Jermasek, father of newly crowned queen Erika said. Jermasek was enjoying the spotlight at the College of Lake County as well as Doug and mother Cindy Jermasek. Jermasek is seven-years-old.

Andrews will not have to return money

WAUKEGAN—Antioch baby-scam defendants Angela Andrews and Terry Pounds will not have to pay restitution for money they collected, at least under any criminal statute. Lake County Circuit Court Judge Charles Scott ruled the restitution claim of the prosecution "untimely" and dismissed the motion. However, Scott said his decision would not bar civil restitution for the couples who paid nearly $65,000 in the hopes of buying the two Andrews children. Andrews, 24, is serving a nine-year sentence, while Pounds, 24, agreed to a four-year term last month for their roles in conning the couples out of the money by promising them babies in return.

Special Girl Scouts can go to Adventure Camp

VERNON HILLS — Fifty-three girls, many of them from Mundelein's Whitehall Manor, have the opportunity to attend a Girl Scout Day Camp at Hawthorn Primary School. An extension of special troop activities, the program is offered to girls who are unable to participate in traditional Girl Scout activities. The Moraine Girl Scout Council and ESL teachers from Hawthorn organized the troops and Adventure Camp.

Only minor injuries in crash

WAUKEGAN—Calvary Temple Assembly of God officials are breathing a sigh of relief after no one in their youth group was seriously injured in a two-bus crash Monday in Texas. The group was welcome home Wednesday. "We are very thankful no one was seriously hurt. There were just a couple of minor injuries," Pastor Robert F. Abbott said. The bus crash occurred on Interstate 35W near Fort Worth as the group was making its return trip from El Paso, Texas. The youth completed a one-week ministry across the Mexican border in Ciudad Juarez, preaching in the streets and attending mass. There were 160 adults and youth in the group from Gurnee, Libertyville, Waukegan, Zion and Beach Park.

Country Inn faces first test in Antioch

ANTIOCH—The proposed Country Inn development, an affordable 16-acre senior complex on Grass Lake Road in unincorporated Antioch Township, meets its first challenge on June 28 when its neighbors will attempt to block the development's zoning variance changes.

The Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing on June 28 at 1:30 p.m. at the Antioch Township Hall to hear the variations from the requirements of the Lake County Zoning Ordinance for the purpose of constructing a Group Dwelling Residential Use on property that is zoned Suburban.

The festival hours are: Thursday, 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday, 5 p.m. to 12 a.m.; and Saturday and Sunday, noon to midnight.

Village criticized for not seeking Federal grants

LAKE ZURICH—A former candidate for trustee has been criticizing Lake Zurich Village officials for not applying for Federal transportation enhancement funds. Jim Weakly presented the board with an application and information regarding the Federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 at the board's June 21 meeting, which grants money to municipalities for transportation enhancement programs. He had earlier suggested the village had "dropped the ball" by not applying for the funds while other villages are using them to enhance their bike and pedestrian paths. Weakly said they could use the money to expand the abandoned animal pathway under Rte. 12 near Rte. 22, or tie the four corners of the village together.

Police Resource Center opens in Mundelein

MUNDELEIN — The Police Department Resource Center in Whitehall Manor officially opened Monday, June 21, in Apt. 104C at 1444 Wimpole St. Mundelein Officer Stanley Villarreal, who is bilingual, has been getting to know the residents and letting them know that he will be available to help them. The sign went up, June 18. Villarreal was there for the opening ceremonies along with Mundelein Police Chief Raymond Rose, Sgt. Keith Kalodimos and Lt. Patrick Pender, as they watched three men from the Mundelein Public Works Dept. bolt the sign to a second floor balcony.

Gun cache found in Round Lake Heights

ROUND LAKE HEIGHTS—An Oak Park man was charged with possession of automatic machine guns and silencers that were found in a Round Lake Heights rental storage space. John Earl Mebust, 42, was in bond court being charged at Lakeland Newspapers press time. Agents from the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol and Firearms (ATF) acting on a tip from the Illinois State Police North Suburban Task Force raided the storage location. The agents seized 32,000 rounds of ammunition, 10 silencers, 50 handguns, 27 rifles, and 10 shot guns. Mebust was arrested two hours after the seizure at a pay phone on State Park Road.

Gurnee police investigator Terri Kincaid said fingerprints were found on the first car left behind in the May 20 incident and sent to Chicago, where a suspect has been found. Plan on late summer seeding to recover damaged lawns

Many Lake County lawns are not looking as good as their owners would like. If yours is one of them, the problem may have gotten started last summer or fall. If your grass was sliding towards ugly last September or October, you may have figured "it'll look better in the spring." If yours is among those lawns that didn't "come back" on its own when the weather started warming up, and now you're facing brown patches, poor color, or grass that's just plain dead, then you may need some help.

Lawns do go through periods of growth and recovery fall, and during the early spring; however, nature can only do so much. Grass that was killed by grubs, wiped out by a fungus disease, or devastated by drought is more likely to be replaced by weeds, crabgrass, and other undesirable plants this year.

Whatever the causes, if your lawn looked rough last fall and it's not looking much better now, you need a good plan of recovery and care.

Normally homeowners are advised with dead or nearly dead lawns at this time of year to apply a low-maintenance program for the summer to keep weeds out and to try and salvage what they have, and to plan renovation work for late August or early September.

The biggest challenge when working with homeowners who are facing serious lawn problems is to convince them to be patient. Most grass plants take several years to fully mature, and a renovated lawn needs at least a year to look thick and full again. Late summer is the best bet.

Experts advise a bare-bones maintenance program that will control crabgrass and broadleaf weeds through the early summer, along with fertilizer to keep what grass you do have healthy until August. The very best results with lawn seeding can be obtained by planting between late August and the end of September.

Many people think of fall seeding as being done in late October or November, but this is really too late because you need to take advantage of the warm weather to get the young grass up and growing actively during the fall. Ideally the new grass will be mowed 3 to 5 times before winter. Earlier fall seeding gives your lawn two good growing seasons of fall and spring before facing the stress of next summer.

Daily watering will still be needed, but not for as long. By the time the seed begins to take hold, the fall days and nights will be cooler and water loss will be reduced. Another big plus is reduced weed competition.

So, if you need seeding work and can live with the bare patches for a few more months, you can plan on late summer seeding and get very good results. If waiting isn't your style, be careful to follow through with consistent watering and watch out for those weeds.

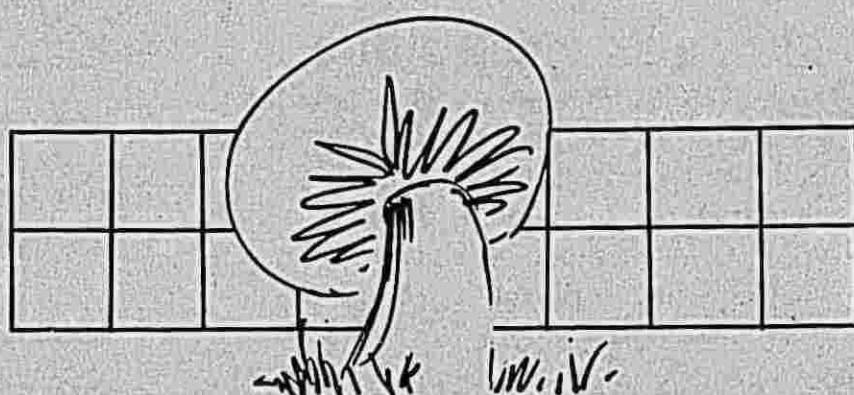

Moss, mushrooms two common lawn problems

Moss and mushrooms are two common problems that often occur on area lawns. While a small amount of either one is not considered much of a problem, occasionally they may appear in large amounts and cause frustration for the homeowner.

How to control moss in lawns is a common question of homeowners, says Bruce Spangenberg, Extension Horticulture Educator with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. A common belief is to add limestone to kill moss. Limestone will raise the soil pH, and most soils in our area tend to have high pH values. Thus adding limestone will make the soil pH go even higher, adding to the lawn's problem.

Unless a soil test has shown a need, do not apply lime to the lawn to kill moss. There are a few options, however, explains Spangenberg. Ferrous ammonium sulfate or ferric sulfate (iron sulfate) can be used to control moss to some extent. Raking out moss is another option; usually followed by reseeding the area.

However, moss thriving in a lawn signals that the lawn is weak and has thinned out for some reason, allowing the moss to take over. Spangenberg lists many potential causes of moss in the lawn, including too much shade, compacted soils, and poorly drained soils. Poor lawn care practices (such as improper mowing, fertilizing, etc.) are another. Aerating the site may help, and a soil test may also be helpful, as it could be the soil pH is out of line, contributing to the problem.

Growing lawns in the shade is often related to moss problems in lawns, as lawns often decline in shade and create ideal conditions for moss to develop. Begin the task of trying to grow grass in the shade by choosing a shade tolerant grass mixture, such as red fescue or other fine fescues. Next, prune vegetation to allow the maximum amount of light to reach the soil surface. Once established, care of a lawn in a shady area is different than grasses grown in the full sun. Spangenberg suggests to mow as high as possible, fertilize less, and water infrequently but deeply.

What about mushrooms in the lawn - how can they be controlled? Mushrooms in the lawn are feeding off of some organic material below ground, usually remains from trees. Mushrooms will persist as long as they have this food source available. Therefore, the only way to eliminate them is to lift the sod, remove the material (old roots, stumps, logs) fill in with new soil, and replace the sod. There are no sprays available to kill mushrooms.

For garden accent, try ornamental grasses

Quite a few perennial members of the grass family are exceptional choices for the home garden. What comes to mind quickly of course are the grasses used for the home lawn. Bluegrass, fescue and rye are familiar names. But what about names like zebra grass, ribbon grass, or feather reed grass. These grasses are part of a large group of grasses used for ornamental purposes. Their leaf color, texture, and attractive flowers and seed heads lend themselves to any number of landscape possibilities.

For an innovative addition to your garden, consider the grace and beauty of ornamental grasses. Their narrow leaves with parallel veining are often topped by handsome flower heads. Grasses are reliable and have year-round appeal. They also provide for a fast impact and reach mature size quickly. The ornamental grasses are a diverse group offering plants that grown from six inches to over 10 feet tall.

Because of this, there is a grass for practically every situation in the garden.

Grasses perform well in the border, as edging or a background plant in flower beds and complement other perennial plants in the garden. Many of the smaller species make excellent additions to a rock garden. For example, mosquito grass, side oats grama, and the fescue species are excellent choices for lighter, better drained soils. Tall grasses such as Japanese silver grass, switchgrass, and big bluestem form excellent specimen plantings or screens. Some grasses such as ribbon grass and giant blue wild ryegrass are excellent groundcovers and may be used to help stabilize banks. Blue fescue forms a fine, blue mound and blue mound and blue will benefit from the addition of ample organic matter to the soil as well as good drainage. Ornamental grasses perform their best in full sun locations. Some exceptions to the full sun rule are oat grass and variegated Japanese sedge which will grow in full shaded.

Ornamental grasses can be obtained as seed, bare root plants or containerized plants. Most major mail-order seed-houses now carry an interesting selection of grasses from seed. Several local nurseries and garden centers handle an ever increasing selection of plants. If you are unfamiliar with ornamental grasses, visiting park districts and botanic gardens prior to purchasing and planting should give you a better insight into the variety available. A number of these public gardens are using more ornamental grass for its impact as well as its relative ease of maintenance.

Ornamental grasses are quite resistant to insects and diseases and require minimum fertility. Spring fertilization amounts to about one-quarter cup of fertilizer per plant for large specimens. Ornamental grasses are also quite tolerant of dry conditions once established.

Grasses do not need to be cut back before winter. In fact, they are more attractive if the foliage is left standing. In early spring, the dead foliage is cut back prior to any spring growth. Grasses enjoy being divided every three to four years. This helps to reduce crowding, encourage better plant health and prevent center die-out. Spring is the best time to do this.

Besides having attractive foliage, many ornamental grasses have flower that are excellent for use in dried arrangement. Regardless of the location in the garden, ornamental grasses to consider and their characteristics: feather reed grass—four to six feet with feathery brown flower heads in July fading to gray. Upright growth habit. Plum grass—eight to 15 feet tall. Spectacular plant with showy 12 to 20 inch silver-white flower heads. Considered a good substitute for non-hardy Pampas Grass. Blue oat grass—two to three feet tall. Striking blue-gray evergreen clump with flowers in June.

Maiden grass—four to five feet tall. Outstanding ornamental grass with upright-arching, fine textured leaves. Showy flowers in October. Moor grass—18 to 24 inches tall. Attractive yellow and green striped leaves form tufted clumps that have a striking foliage effect. Purplish flowers in June.

The fast lane

I too live in Antioch and think that the police should do more to enforce the speed limits in town. Especially on weekends. The trucks and cars go so fast down Main Street, pedestrians should fear for their lives.

Talk about magic

I think that Lipservice is great. I called about a road in Fox Lake and even before it got into print, the dump spot was cleaned up. Amazing.

Water worries

I live in Antioch and am calling about the bad water we have been having for the past 6 months. The public has not been notified. Why are the officials of our town sitting on this and not letting anyone know about it? They should know about it. People need to have their water tested. We did and an ammonia reading was positive. Also, why are they doing all of those test holes?

PO protests

I am calling from Ingleside to comment on the Postal Service's survey. They are trying to balance the budget by taking away our post office. When hundreds of residents protested we were told a survey would be sent out. Instead, they sent us a biased survey attempting to promote the shut-down. It is a shamefully slanted document. Write to the Manager of Operations Program Support at the US Postal Service, 500 E. Fullerton Ave., Carol Stream, IL 60199-9998 with your protests.

Screwing in a light bulb?

Mr. Semmerling, we want to know why it takes twice as many employees in Lake Villa Township to take care of less road miles than Antioch. There are a lot of questions about your budget including the $12,000 for legal costs. There are a lot of questions about your budget. Retire with dignity.

Good Samaritan

We had the misfortune to lose $50 while shopping. In the Lake Villa store in which we were shopping, we had to leave our name and address for what we were purchasing. A lady in the store found the money, called us to let us know, and since she knew where we lived said she would drop it by our house. She refused any reward offered. We want to thank this lady publicly. Thank you!

Wanna bet?

I think that Michael Jordan is being treated unfairly. I can't believe they think he is gambling and stuff. I hate it!

Use empty store

I live in Grayslake and I can't believe they are considering a park district building and library in Central Park. There is no parking and there is a perfectly good empty store uptown they can convert and use for both. It has adequate parking and space inside.

Poor vision

I am an Antioch resident and have just read the survey those professionals were paid big bucks to prepare. It is supposed to help Antioch officials to decide about village growth. Did they have blinders on? One recommendation was that we needed a sports store downtown. We presently have two only a block apart plus several marinas. I hope our mayor puts blinders on when she pays the bill.

Donation made

A $5,000 donation was made to the Village of Antioch by the Antioch Community Action Now (CAN) organization. The donation was made at a board meeting to cover a portion of the costs for the Downtown Market Study done by S.B. Friedman and Company.

The donation was agreed upon when it was determined that there was a need for the study. CAN's goals are to enhance the development and maintenance of the Antioch downtown business district.

Disclosure law

A new full disclosure ordinance was passed in the Antioch Village Board meeting. The names of all property owners applying for a zoning change or a variation must now be disclosed with the application for such changes. If a corporation owns the real estate, an affidavit must be included naming all the officers of the corporation. If a trust owns the real estate, the trustee must include the names of the beneficial owners of the trust. In the case of partnerships, all partners must be named.

Home Town award presented

A ceremony was held at the village hall to celebrate the Antioch Centennial Playground's victory at the Governor's Home Town Award Competition. The park won first place for overall community wide volunteer participation and support.

At the village ceremony, the playground committee and volunteers presented the town with both a plaque and highway sign.

The governor's award ceremony was held in Springfield. Receiving the award on behalf of the town during were Vickie Axton, Carol Furlan, Joe Huber, Ann and Stan Livermore, Joann Osmond, and Linda Pederson.

The Governor gave a rousing speech honoring the volunteers. "The Governor's Home Town Awards are a way for those of us in state government to recognize and thank these dedicated volunteers for their service," said Governor Jim Edgar. "This year's winners again show that the spirit of community pride and volunteerism is alive and well in Illinois."

The application for the competition was prepared by Vickie and Ted Axton. With color photographs, the application itself is larger than the local phone book. The original will be on display at the Lakes Historical Society and copies will be available for review at the village hall and the township library.

The playground project was a tremendous accomplishment for the Village of Antioch. Volunteers raised over $60,000 to finance the project. The playground opened on May 17, 1992 in honor of Antioch's Centennial celebration.

The park is located on Anita Street in the village. If you have not yet stopped by to see it, now is the time to see one of the jewels in Antioch's crown.

CAUSE seeks energy alternatives

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

In an effort to find alternatives to Commonwealth Edison's proposed 138 kilowatt transmission line, the Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE) plan to hire experts to do a critical study of the recently released Energy Needs Assessment report. In addition, they intend to have these experts review Edison's proposal in light of the report.

"We are grateful to Director John Moore and his staff at the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources for providing the citizens with a clear idea of our energy future," said Jim Pierce CAUSE spokesperson.

The interpretation of the report is quite controversial. Edison feels that the report illustrates the need for the new lines. CAUSE, on the other hand feels that the report identifies our future electrical needs and highlights the need of new Demand Side Management programs.

Demand Side Management (DSM) programs, which are used in many other parts of the country, are programs encouraging more efficient energy usage.

"They are the best return for both the investor and the rate payer," explained Pierce. "We will be talking to experts to formulate some policies for a DSM program in our area."

In an interview last week, Ron Crawford pointed out that the Illinois Public Utility Commission has not really backed such plans in Illinois. Other states allow the costs of implementing these programs to be passed onto the rate payer.

However, according to Pierce, "Nothing is prohibiting Edison from going before the commission to ask for a rider to recover the costs from rate payers."

They just haven't done it."

Pierce claims that Edison is not interested in reducing energy usage. "They are producing 40-percent more energy than we need," said Pierce. "The commission is not allowing them to pass along these costs." Pierce implied that because of the overproduction, Edison is under no pressure to reduce energy usage.

Despite which side you may agree with, a hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission is scheduled for August 10. CAUSE hopes that the hearing will provide a more complete record of the viability of Edison's proposal.

Trustee Amundsen blasts CAUSE spokesperson

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

Trustee Donald Amundsen blasted Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE) spokesperson, Jim Pierce in response to a presentation made to the Antioch Village Board.

Several weeks ago, Pierce presented the board with a copy of the Energy Needs Assessment report. During the presentation, Pierce implied that the new building construction in Antioch was less energy efficient than other areas.

"My point is, that someone came before us and made some statements that were basically unsubstantiated by the evidence presented," said Amundsen. "Basically, they were untruths."

Furthermore, Pierce had warned the board that Antioch rate payers, alone, might have to bear the cost burden of the substation under a Public Utility ordinance Rider 28.

When asked to comment about Rider 28, Commonwealth Edison representative Ron Crawford indicated it had no applicability to the Antioch substation.

"If the village board passed an ordinance requiring Edison to replace all of the lines with underground lines, then the local rate payers should have to pay for those costs," said Crawford. "But, it certainly does not apply here."

Amundsen voiced concern about citizen's groups coming before the board alleging unsubstantiated facts.

"I think we have to be very careful of people with a cause, when they come before us, and the statements that they make to see if they can back them with facts," said Amundsen. "In this case they did not back them with facts."

Lasky gets big catch, proof of 'fishing story'

Fish story

Avid fisherman Bob Lasky of Antioch recently hit it extremely lucky on the Chain O'Lakes. He packed the needed fishing equipment on his gorgeous new fishing boat, launched it and went merrily on his way. Before long he had a fish story of all stories to tell for many years to come.

He boated a 45-inch, approximately 35 pound muskey. He kept it long enough to measure it and take a picture. He then released it to hopefully recatch in five to 10 years, when it will potentially become the granddaddy of all muskies in the Chain.

Congratulations, Robert, and the pictures were truly magnificent. Please read on.

Sun bathing

The day that Bob Lasky hit it lucky, he had to call long distance to Myrtle Beach, S.C. to share his good news with his wife, Elaine. Elaine, her mom

Daisy Hanssen, and two sisters, Jean DeAngelis and Barb Caprio, were away sunbathing on the beach in

Hometown Goodies

South Carolina. They were gone for one week and Bob simply couldn't wait for her to return to share the news.

Library news

The Antioch Public Library is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The memorial book program dates back to 1965 or earlier. It is designed to fill two community goals. The first is to provide a way to create a memorial for a family member or friend who has passed away. The second is to supplement the library's book budget.

A person or persons wanting to create a memorial donate a desired amount of money and may also specify any subjects he/she wishes the book to be about. The library uses the money to purchase the book. When the book arrives, it is processed with a special bookplate acknowledging that it is a memorial book.

The library is always looking for people to exhibit their hobbies in one of the display cases. If you have a hobby that you would like to share with the community, contact the library for further information.

The library board meetings are held at 4:30 p.m. in the library meeting room, and the next scheduled meetings are June 29, July 27 and Aug. 31.

New look

I am sure a lot of you are sitting on pins and needles waiting to hear the following news. The Lizard actually accomplished a thorough spring house cleaning. On Friday, June 4, I actually slipped into a dress, panty hose and heels in order to appear at the Grass Lake School graduation ceremony. I was relaxing a few minutes before it was time to leave when I heard my daughter, Karen, arrive home from work. I waited for her expected question, "Where are you going tonight?" My prepared answer was, "Nowhere. I just thought, since the house was in total order, I would dress for dinner." Karen's reply was, "All right, June Cleaver, what are you really up to?"

Just how do all those soap opera and sitcom people get away with looking good all the time with no one questioning their meticulous appearances? I simply have to do something to change my image around here. However, those faded, spotted, stretched-out t-shirts and sweat pants sure are comfortable.

Help

The Evergreen Wildlife Conservation Society takes orphaned or injured wildlife and raises and nurses them till they are able to return to the wild.

Human progress takes its toll on wildlife. As more and more homes are built, there are fewer safe places for these wild creatures to live. As more and more cars travel the roads, more and more deaths and injuries occur. This type of humane service costs a lot of money. If you can assist Evergreen with even a small donation, please make your check payable to Evergreen Wildlife Society and mail it to Evergreen at P.O. Box 805, McHenry, Ill. 60051-0805. They really do need and appreciate your help. Please do what you can.

Sorority sister

At a formal reception in Hilton Head, S.C., Leslie Bennett was installed into the Sorority of A-O-Pi. Leslie is a former Antioch resident who presently resides in Oxford, Ga. and is attending Georgia Southern University. Congratulations, Leslie.

So beautiful

If you recall, we live on a channel off of Lake Marie. Last year, we had about 75 geese feeding on our property and also many ducks. Although they often create a mess of things, their beauty and elegance offsets any cleaning up that I must do. So far this year, we have 16 adult Canadian geese and three babies squawking and honking for our handouts. They are often accompanied by eight mallard ducks. They are absolutely beautiful and it is very relaxing sitting under the tree watching and feeding them.

Pat Santiemmo helped chaperone the Grass Lake

School Junior High education tour to historical Williamsburg and Washington, D.C. When the children were viewing the Lincoln Memorial, a bird was perched on the statue. Pat told the children that it was a 30-year-old bird. When they asked her how she knew this, she told them when she was a young child, she too visited the monument and that same bird had been perched on the replica of Honest Abe. It didn't take the kids long to realize Pat was teasing them and they all enjoyed a good laugh and another fond memory of their fun trip.

Heather Dawson, Nicole Santiemmo and Ben Friel attended the June meeting of the GLS board and did a fine job highlighting special high points of the trip.

The following Antioch High School students earned outstanding honors during the 1992-93 school year while attending the Lake County Area Vocation Center in Grayslake: Nicole Garwood (office technology); Chris Gentleman (commercial foods); Kristin Gentleman (media); Matt Parmley (commercial foods); Robb Raukohl (building trades); and Mike Vavrina (small engines and RV repair).

The following students were awarded trophies in the ACHS semester keyboarding contest: Melissa Becker, Brian Santiago and Jessica Gurtowski (Keyboarding I); Erin Boales and Charlie Miles (Keyboarding II); and Jennifer Wilke and Jennifer Brausam (Advanced Keyboarding). Great job!

Antioch plans fun-filled Fourth of July weekend

by CLAUDIA M. LENART
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch community is planning two days full of fun and festivities in celebration of American independence, July 3 and 4.

Fourth of July committee members say last year's Centennial celebrations were so successful that they wanted to continue the tradition this year. The committee aims to celebrate America's birthday while aiding in the preservation of Antioch as a friendly, family-oriented, rural American community.

"The Fourth of July should be the most celebrated holiday, because it's the birthday of our country," said Claude LeMere, general chairman of the Fourth of July committee.

Weekend events kick off at 9:45 a.m., Saturday, July 3, with patriotic entertainment provided by the Antioch Fourth of July Choir. The choir is made up of members from community churches.

At 10 a.m., the parade steps off on Main Street. The parade includes a pet parade, a bike decorating contest and a costume contest. At 11 a.m. St. Ignasias Church will sponsor a food booth.

Also at 11 a.m., opening ceremonies feature flag raising and singing by the Fourth of July choir. The dedication precedes the Children's Festival, so kids can gain awareness of the true meaning of this patriotic holiday.

"The kids fair will be spectacular," said LeMere. It will feature a petting zoo, pony rides, Snooky the Clown, face painting and lots of games. The Children's Festival continues through 3 p.m.

Fourth of July events begin in Williams Park at 9 a.m. with a Crazy Co-Ed Softball tournament, Basketball 3-Point Shoot Out contest and Co-Ed Volleyball tournament. At 11 a.m. there will be horse shoe and casting tourneys. Antioch Fire Department sponsors water fight at 2 p.m. Food and beer booths will be sponsored by the Lions Club. The Rotary will hold bingo games throughout the day.

A main event new this year will be the Tug of War between the Antioch Lions Club and the Antioch Rescue Squad. The two groups will hold their test of strength over a mud hole, two-feet deep. After it's over, two ladies in bikinis, provided by John Haley of Blarney's Island, will hose off the losers.

Musical entertainment begins at 5 p.m. and features the Footlight's Grease Band, Antioch Fourth of July Choir, Antioch Community High School Choir, and the Lakes Area Community Band.

The holiday activities come to a patriotic climax with an appearance by Abe Lincoln and the Statue of Liberty, played by P.M.&L. actors John Rooker and Peggie Reynolds. Abe Lincoln will read the Gettysburg address and then the fireworks will sparkle and bang accompanied by patriotic melodies sung by the Fourth of July Choir.

ACHS plans repairs to 78-year-old building

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

A crumbling exterior wall and roof in the oldest section of Antioch Community High School will need to be repaired before students can walk its historic hallways again this fall.

According to ACHS Business Manager Ken Wiershiem, the wall must be repaired as soon as possible.

"Despite the building being less safe than other areas of the school, we are not putting kids into a hazard by using the 1915 building," said Wiershiem. "Kids are not going to fall through the floor."

Age and the weather are major contributors to the 78-year-old building's sudden illness, said Wiershiem.

"That south wall gets more exposure during the winter months," said Wiershiem. "I also believe the rains running past here for 70-plus years have also had an impact."

The building, which was the original high school building from 1915 to 1927, is primarily used for physical science classes, according to Wiershiem.

ACHS Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley said the building presents no immediate danger but will have to be fixed somehow. The failed building referendum in April would have demolished the 1915 building and 1927 addition and replaced them with a new addition in its place.

"Our plan right now is to put a minimum amount of money into it to make sure it is safe," said Schley.

The ACHS building is expected to handle the estimated 1,800 students enrolled at the school for the 1993-94 school year.

Residents get ready for school board elections

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

With referendums failing yearly and school districts financially struggling, the election of school district board members this fall becomes more important than ever and the deadline for candidates to file, Aug. 23, is closing in fast.

It has become so important to some, that Antioch resident Vern Holmes has been running for the Antioch Community High School board since last November.

In ACHS District 117, Vice-president Alice Gantar, Ted Axton, Larry Peterson and Glen Moore's seats are up for election in November.

In Antioch District 34, Secretary Gary Burnette, Bruce Jablonski, Karen Lueck, and Dr. Bud Newton will need to be re-elected to keep their seats on the board.

At Emmons School, President Louis Korom, Vice-president Janet Quist, Richard Ruck and James Koppa have their seats up for election.

Secretary Cynthia Marquart, Sally Hiller, John Fleshmen and Elizabeth Schmehl are up for re-election at Grass Lake School District 36.

Candidates interested in running for open school seats must live within the district they are seeking election in, obtain a percentage of signatures from registered voters in the district, and return the petition to the particular school board by Aug. 23.

According to ACHS Superintendent Dr. Robert Schley's office, there has been some interest in the high school's open board slots, but no one has yet to return their petitions to the school.

Village to bid on neglected work

A resolution was passed during a recent Antioch Village Board meeting to bid on the work the Abbey Estate's developer has failed to do.

According to a letter from Robert Silhan, Director of Planning, Zoning, and Building of Antioch, the developer failed to resolve problems concerning inadequate erosion control, storm water drainage, and inadequate street paving.

The resolution allows the village to bid on the work with a cost limit of $20,000. In addition, no further permits will be granted until the costs are repaid to the village.

The declared emergency will terminate on August 23, 1993.

On display, at the Antioch Public Library are dishes from different eras in the life of "America's finest china" shop, including some from the French and German hand-painted porcelain period during 1893 to 1920; and others from the popular dinner dishes of the 1940s and 1950s. Collector plates are also on display. One of Pickard's collection pieces is a "Presidential Bowl" introduced in 1989 made for the U.S. bicentennial, and the first order was placed personally by President George Bush.

The business, started in 1893 in Edgerton, Wisconsin by Wilder Austin Pickard, and then moved to Chicago by 1897. During that time, the company specialized in hand-painted art pieces, dessert and tea sets. Many of the original artists were from the Art Institute of Chicago, according to current president of the company and grandson to the founder Henry "Pete" Pickard. Then in 1937 the business relocated to the peaceful setting and lovely lakes of Antioch which proved ideal for the craftsman's work.

The Antioch plant has grown from the original 5,000-square feet to the current 60,000-square feet of warehouse and shop space. Employees now, total between 70 and 90, said Pickard, and everything is

The unique delicacy yet strength the Pickard China possesses, has impressed the United States Government so much, that in 1977, the U.S. Department of State selected them to manufacture the official china service used by our embassies and other diplomatic missions around the world. Many heads of state and prestigious hotels, restaurants and corporations have also chosen to use Pickard Incorporated to produce their china.

Library needs more friends

The Antioch Friends of the Library is looking for some fresh ideas. The group which reformed earlier this year is looking for additional volunteers to help accomplish a slew of planned projects.

"The purpose of the Friends of the Library is to create public interest and public support," said Carole Riska, publicity chairperson.

"We'd like people to adopt a shelf, to come up with fresh ideas for book sales," said Riska.

The Friends of the Library meets the first Thursday of every month, 7:30 p.m., at the library.

Some projects the group has planned are, bringing books to shut-ins, obtaining books for the blind, and expanding the research area. The Friends are also planning programs to get children more interested in reading. In the fall, the group will hold a book writing contest for area children. The winner's book will be bound and put in the library.

The group currently has about 10 people who are consistently involved. "You don't have to be a permanent volunteer. You can volunteer just for one project," said Riska. "We'd like to see more young mothers get involved. It would be nice to have more of a mix of ages and genders."

Interested residents of Antioch Township should call Riska, 395-6514, after 6 p.m., or Friends President Gail Rasmussen, 395-6588.

Walczak fund raiser a success

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

It was a sad day in Antioch last December when resident Michael Walczak passed away after a bout with cancer.

However, Betty Johnson and a host of other friends gathered at the Bristol Oaks Country Club last month to honor and remember their friend.

"He was a very special person and a close friend," said Johnson. "We always had an annual outing, so it was natural to name it after him and raise some money for cancer research."

Johnson said 86 golfers and 114 people attended the ceremonies and auction/raffle. The event raised $2,700 for the American Cancer Society.

Walczak was a longtime resident of Lake County and a well-known Country Companies agent, who died in the prime of his life.

Johnson added the event will be held annually and will be even larger next year.

"We are expect 180 golfers next year," said Johnson.

Keep vehicles in tune with environment

Car care is a win-win situation. Besides helping the environment, a properly maintained and operated vehicle runs more efficiently, is safer, and should last longer, up to 50 percent longer, according to a survey of ASE-certified Master Auto Technicians. The following tips, from the experts at the non-profit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), can help put you on the road to environmentally conscious car care.

Keep your engine tuned-up, a misfiring spark plug can reduce fuel efficiency as much as 30 percent. Follow the service schedules listed in your owner's manual. Replace filters and fluids as recommended. You'll help cut down on air pollution too!

Check your tires for proper inflation. Under-inflated or poorly aligned tires waste fuel, your engine is forced to work harder to push the vehicle. Properly maintained tires also last longer, meaning fewer scrap tires have to be disposed.

Do-it-yourselfers, dispose of used motor oil, anti-freeze/coolant, tires, and old batteries properly. Many repair facilities accept these items. Or call your local municipal or county government for recycling sites. Never dump used oil or anti-freeze on the ground or in open streams.

If you think your efforts are not needed, look again: Each year twenty times the amount of oil spilled by the tanker Exxon Valdez in Alaska is improperly dumped into America's environment by do-it-yourselfers.

If you are not a do-it-yourselfer, find a good technician. Ask friends and associates for their recommendations. Check the reputation of the repair shop with your local consumer group. Look for places which employ ASE-certified technicians. ASE technicians have passed national certification exams in auto repair specialties such as engine performance and air conditioning. Shops with ASE technicians usually display ASE's blue and white outdoor sign, while the technicians wear similar shoulder insignia.

Keep your air conditioner in top condition and have it serviced only by a certified technician competent to handle/recycle refrigerants. Air conditioners contain CFC's, gases that have been implicated in the depletion of the ozone layer. Improper service can cause some of this gas to leak into the atmosphere, so it's important to choose a qualified technician.

Observe speed limits. Mileage decreases sharply above 55 mph. Drive gently. Avoid sudden accelerations and jerky stop-and-go's. Use cruise-control on open highways to keep your speed as steady as possible.

Avoid excessive idling. Shut off the engine while waiting for friends and family.

Remove excess items from the vehicle. Less weight means better mileage. Store luggage/cargo in the trunk rather than on the roof to reduce air drag.

Plan trips. Consolidate your daily errands to eliminate unnecessary driving. Try to travel when traffic is light to avoid stop-and-go conditions. Join a car pool.

Remember, how your car runs, how you drive it, and how its fluids, old parts, and tires are disposed of all have serious consequences on the environment.

For a copy of ASE's brochure, "Keeping Your Vehicle in Tune with the Environment," send a business-sized, stamped envelope to: ASE, Dept C93, 13505 Dulles Technology Dr., Herndon, VA 22071.

Weight loss and inflation are factors in tire wear

Have you taken a good look at your tires lately? Since they're the only thing between your car and the pavement, maybe it's time for a close inspection. This means getting the car off the ground on a lift.

Automobile tires are designed to last many thousands of miles, through just about every conceivable road condition, but it's not the road that is responsible for premature tire wear. It's neglect. Following are five chief causes of early tire wear or failure:

1. Incorrect Inflation. Underinflated tires tend to wear along the sides while over-inflation will wear a strip down the middle of the tread.

Radial tires tend to look a little soft all the time, but don't be fooled and assume inflation is correct. If you don't already own one, says CarCare Council, spend a few dollars for a tire gauge and use it at least once a month.

2. Incorrect Alignment. Periodic adjustments to steering and suspension components can generally correct this condition. You'll notice greatly improved steering and handling after correcting a misalignment problem. You'll also get better tire wear.

If you own a front wheel drive car, you probably will need rear wheel alignment too.

3. Wheels Out of Balance. Tires that don't wear evenly often are victims of this condition. The loss of just one balancing weight from the wheel rim, due to impact with a chuck hole or curb, can be enough to throw a wheel out of balance.

The flat spots that wear into the tread of an imbalanced tire will cause a thumping sound like lumps on the road surface. Worn shock absorbers or struts will accentuate the symptoms and aggravate the wear.

4. Poor Driving Habits. Carelessly driving over bumps and holes or running into curbs can damage tires, change wheel alignment and/or balance. High speed driving and cornering too fast also contribute to premature tire wear.

5. Overloading. Towing a boat or travel trailer add to tire wear. Even too much junk in the trunk, like an outboard motor and/or heavy tools and equipment, take their toll. Lighten up for better tire wear and fuel economy, says the Council.

Getting hitched: Safe trailing tips for summer get-aways

The weather is balmy. The kids are at summer camp. It's the perfect weekend to pack up your boat and steal away to a favorite fishing hole.

But whether you're driving a sporty compact pickup—or your trusty old sedan, don't leave safety behind.

Following are tips for safe trailing:

- Stay within your vehicle's Gross Combined Weight Rating (GCWR)—the maximum allowable weight of the towing vehicle and the loaded trailer, including cargo and passengers.

- For proper handling, tongue weight the amount of the trailer's weight pressing down on the trailer hitch—should not exceed 200 pounds for trailers up to 2,000 pounds. Tongue weight for trailers over 2,000 pounds should be 10 to 15 percent of the trailer's weight. Fifth-wheel trailers need a tongue load of 25 percent of the trailer's weight.

- Balance the trailer's load with about 60 percent of its cargo weight at the front and 40 percent in the rear.

- Use a ball hitch only when hauling less than 2,000 pounds. Unless your owner's manual says otherwise, use a load-equalizing hitch, which attaches to the vehicle's frame, for heavier loads.

- Before starting a trip, practice turning, stopping and backing up in a parking lot or other area free from heavy traffic.

- Back up slowly, placing one hand on the bottom of the steering wheel and moving it in the direction you want the trailer to go. Don't over-correct if you make a mistake; generally only a slight adjustment is needed.

- Leave a longer distance for braking. Trailer brakes are required on most trailers weighing over 1,000 pounds.

- Use safety chains between the vehicle and trailer as a backup for hitch failure. Connect chains to the vehicle's frame or hook retainers, never to the bumper. Cross chains under the trailer tongue and allow slack for turning corners.

- Downshift to help braking uphill and downhill.

- When passing, allow plenty of clearance. Remember that your combined vehicle and trailer is considerably longer than your vehicle alone.

- Once you're on the road, stop every hour or so for a quick "walkaround" inspection. Check the trailer hitch, lights and electrical connections, tire pressure of the vehicle and trailer, trailer wheel lug nuts, engine oil and coolant levels.

- Don't ignore routine maintenance. Most manufacturers include separate recommendations for servicing tow vehicles in their owner's manuals.

Give car attention it deserves

Over a lifetime one may spend as much or more on a car than they do on their homes, according to the Car Care Council. A good vehicle is an investment not to be taken lightly.

Keeping up its appearance, inside and out, is essential to protecting this investment. Whether it's a scratch on the door or a tear in the upholstery, give your car the attention it deserves and it will take care of you.

Time to play ball---here!

Bringing minor league baseball to Lake County looks like a natural.

If Kane County can do it, why not Lake? That is pretty much the essence of the interest of business leaders in bringing a minor league baseball franchise to Lake County as part of an overall economic development program.

Minor league baseball has been nothing less than a phenomenal success in Kane County, similar to Lake County in its growth and development patterns, but much smaller in population. Kane County's love affair with its Class A Midwest League Cougars has been the talk of professional baseball. The Cougars ranked fourth in attendance in 1991 and second last year for all Class A teams with a draw of 324,000 fans.

There even is a Midwest League franchise available with Waterloo, Iowa, on the block.

County Board Chairman Robert "Bob" Depke and Forest Preserve Dist. President Colin McRae already have been tabbed as the political leaders needed to give the greenlight to minor league baseball in Lake County. This decision ought to be like getting a soft pitch right down the middle---no high inside fast one like what to do with solid waste disposal or a low and away curve ball like casino riverboat gambling.

Think of it. Our national pastime. Who will find fault with baseball? A non-polluting business that will produce tax revenue and enhance our well established recreation industry. Let's go, Bob and Colin. Time to play ball!

A problem of money

Transit needs gobble up over half of funds coming to Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

On wheels and water, Lake County is moving ahead. A federal appropriation of $10 million assured that the Wisconsin Central commuting line to Antioch is on-going. With political horse-trading in high gear, it looks like there will be casino riverboats on the Fox River and possibly Waukegan's lakefront.

On the highways, though, traffic is moving slower all the time as rapid growth and development taxes the capacity of the county's existing highway network. Special interests are blocking two of the most urgently needed improvements, widening to four lanes of Rte. 22 and more lanes for Lake-Cook Rd.

But root cause of gridlock is more money than politics. As Illinois Transportation Sec. Kirk Brown explained in a recent talk in the county, road-building dollars are hard to find. IDOT has a billion dollar budget, but half of these funds go for transit programs, which are administered by other agencies. Less than 10 percent of funds earmarked for roads will go for new construction. The rest goes for maintenance like snow plowing, lighting and fixing up deteriorating roads.

Having said that, Brown turned his thoughts to comments on compliance with the new Illinois Employee Commute Options Act, basically a legislative attempt to clean up the air by getting cars off the highway with mandatory car pooling.

When you're inching along bumper-to-bumper during rush hour, it's difficult to understand that there's more to transportation than building roads, a lot more. Maybe you should join a car pool or take the train? Now riverboat casinos, they don't take you anywhere. They just take your money.

Theory to be tested

Business-government partnership concept being tested in Vernon Township.

Need for partnerships between business and government, one of the "hot button" ideas for the 1990's, is being given a try in Vernon Township.

The Rotary Club of Lincolnshire is raising funds for the Vernon Area Library, a tax-supported entity that is finding the going more than a little rugged in serving the diverse and growing needs of a rapidly expanding community. The library can use more money than is being raised through real estate taxes.

Rotarians have some definite ideas about what to do with the money raised like providing services and information that will be especially useful to business. But to Rotary's credit, funds raised during a July and August drive will be turned over with no strings attached.

Outcome of the fund campaign will be worth watching. Business and the public sector working closely together is an interesting concept. Now we'll be able to see what happens.

Land being washed away

Editor:

Rain was a disaster for property owners on Fox Lake. Due to all the recent rains, the lakes are at a very high level. The boats were out at a very high level, too. As the result, the combination of the wind and the boats sent waves high upon our beaches and land was washed away. We need a no-wake on the Chain under these circumstances because once the land is washed away, it can't be replaced.

Developers got 'paid'

Editor:

It's outrageous that taxpayers are forced to support someone whose going to make big money on the development of his land. All this so Mr. Prate gets his due (remember his $1,000 campaign contribution).

What garbage about a northward movement. It's in the comprehensive plan already and would happen anyway without any incentive. More double talk by the expert. And yes, Mr. and Mrs. Hardworking-Hardly-Making-Ends-Meet Taxpayer must take up the slack, pay what Mr. Reynolds doesn't, so that fat cats can get fatter.

And surprise, surprise, the Roney farm debacle is back. I guarantee it will become reality this time around. After much posturing and double-talking (it's started already) and behind the scenes maneuvering we of Wauconda will be saddled with twice the school enrollment we have now and a lot of other headaches. The facts will not change I'm sure. Their smoke screens and specious statements are too well rehearsed to change; and why should they now that their buddy Mr. Eschenbach is in office?

Orwellian future

Editor:

Unanimous approval by the Libertyville Board of Trustees of the Cambridge homes plan to build 68 homes on the Leslie property north of Peterson Rd. has renewed my faith in our local elected officials and political process. I am encouraged that democracy is at its zenith. Our village board is well prepared and willing to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the electorate. Our future is in good hands.

I envision Libertyville as an Autopian village in the 21st century. Village citizens will live in peaceful harmony with the environment. No need to rush about town since traffic congestion will prevent it. More homeowners will be able to enjoy their view of high voltage power lines without the distraction of endangered plant and wildlife. Many of the new residents of the Leslie property can get year around exposure to low frequency radiation. No more need for those costly getaway vacations in the sun each spring. During the wet season, Leslie property owners will have easy access to aquatic entertainment.

School children will benefit from increased companionship in overcrowded classrooms. This should enhance their social development. Taxpayers will receive better value for educating more students with scarce tax dollars, particularly following assimilation of the North Chicago school district.

Neighborhoods will blend together naturally through thoughtful execution of the township long term development plan. Citizens will have safe and easy ac-

Bulls quest reorganized our daily lives

by BILL SCHROEDER

Few dads in these parts will forget Father's Day, 1993. That was the day they took second place to destiny's darlings as their families stayed glued to television sets cheering on the Chicago Bulls to their historic Threepeat.

Pop was an after thought with history on the line in Phoenix.

When it was all over, after the dads had opened gifts and the kids all rushed their "Happy Father's Days," was a new generation of sports fans with an indelible memory of a shared experience that will stay with them the rest of their lives.

In One Man's Family, the Bulls are THE team and pro basketball is THE sport. Move over Bears. Sure, the Cubs still are around. Since we're so far north, the White Sox never really figure.

But the Bulls now are first in the hearts and minds of local sports fans.

Things are returning to normal in our family after three weeks of coordinating all activities around the Bulls quest for a third consecutive world championship. The die-hard Bulls fans in our clan(three) managed to produce a flock of basketball converts to the point where Father's Day burgers and brats were timed to come off the grill at half-time. If the hype was getting to Michael Jordan, then it was getting to everyone.

When John Paxson dropped the historic go-ahead three pointer, our two viewing areas erupted with shouts, high fives, back-slapping and sighs of relief. Your household, too? See what I mean? New Years Eve was never like the Bulls' celebration.

Summer won't be the same without the Bulls.

'VAPORIZED'---Ruth Sutton, a sharp investigative reporter during her news writing days, has called attention to the fact that Spring Grove patrons have been left out of the new Far North Suburban telephone directory. "What happened? Were we nuked?" Sutton wanted to know. Then she answered her own question by reporting that a little sleuthing uncovered the fact that the directory publisher inadvertently "transferred" Spring Grove to a McHenry area directory. "Sorry. Computer error," explained the Donnelley rep. The error will be corrected next year, Sutton was told. So, Spring Grove wasn't nuked, only temporarily vaporized to be reconstituted at a later date.

cess to parks and recreational facilities. A contented and pacified community will alleviate the need to those controversial and time consuming public hearings on community matters of interest. And finally, the village name change to Brownsville we capture the truer spirit of the community.

I am overwhelmed with the rush of these visionary thoughts about our Orwellian future. The last time I felt this euphoria was when I was struck by a thousand points of light. I am indebted to the mayor and the village trustees for awakening these dormant emotions. You know we the public are squarely behind you. Your foresight and integrity are obvious to all. Long live democracy and the American way of life.

Wetland is a marsh

Editor:

John Cuneo Jr. claims he doesn't have a wetland on his property. He slights the Army Corps of Engineers for identifying it as a wetland. The Army Corps, WSEPA, Soil and Water Conservation Dist., Dept. of Conservation, Lake County Health Dept. and Lake County Storm Water Management Commission all took part in identifying Mr. Cuneo's wetland as a highly functional wetland, (an ADID site).

Cuneo's wetland, in fact, is a semi-marsh. A most prestigious wetland because it has 50 percent emergent vegetation and 50 percent open water, most desirable to wildlife habitating these including the endangered species found there.

To change the hydrology of that wetland minutely would significantly threaten the continued existence of micro and macro invertebrate, vertebrate and plankton so important to the food chain necessary to sustain the wildlife found there.

Sound the sirens

Editor:

I am a new homeowner in Lindenhurst. I was surprised to hear that many municipalities had set off their severe weather warning sirens on Tuesday, June 8. I was surprised because I did not hear any sirens. I started making phone calls and was shocked to learn that Lindenhurst and Lake Villa do not have any warning sirens. This is a gross disregard for public safety.

There have been numerous studies done to prove that these sirens work and many actual incidents documented about the effectiveness of these sirens.

The Aug. 28, 1990 tornado that hit Plainfield, killed 29 people. The sirens were not sounded because the national weather service had not issued a warning, which shows how suddenly tornadoes develop and strike. It is unfortunate that no one saw the tornado develop until it was too late. Many lives may have been saved.

On March 27, 1991 a police sergeant in Lemont, saw a tornado develop and ordered the sirens activated. This was six minutes before the National Weather Service even issued a warning. By the time the warning came on the TV and radio it was too late, but fortunately for the citizens of Lemont their town was prepared and the sirens saved lives when it was needed. And who can forget the pictures of the widespread destruction of the town of Barneveld, Wis. from the tornado that struck at 12:42 a.m. on June 8, 1984. No sirens were sounded since no warning had been issued and no tornadoes sighted. Nine people died.

When you hear the sirens you need to take cover, move indoors to a reinforced shelter and go to the lowest level of the building (a basement or a bathroom on the lowest level in your home or building, and the hallway on the lowest level in an apartment building).

Villages are in charge of public safety and I urge the residents of these towns to contact their village board to let them know your concerns. Let's get prepared now...before the disaster instead of crying afterwards...saying "We should have...If only..."

Younger generation being groomed by GOP

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspaper political column, is prepared from staff reports.

One of the reasons Republicans are the dominant political party in Lake County is a carefully orchestrated effort to involve younger voters.

In targeted areas, young residents who have voted in two of the last three general elections have been mailed personal letters inviting the voter to get involved with the GOP. A membership brochure is enclosed. The letter contains the name and telephone number of the voter's Republican township chairman. Pretty high tech stuff.

Valery E. Gallagher, executive director of the Lake County Republican Federation, said formation of a Federation Junior Board for voters age 21 to 40, also is an effort to further involve younger voters.

The Junior Board is headed by Steve Simonian, a Waukegan attorney who lives in Libertyville. The FJB executive committee is made up of John Dixon and Jenifer Altounian, both of Lake Forest; Dr. Julie McLaughlin of Lake Bluff and Gallagher.

What's happening is that children of founders of the 31-year-old Foundation are becoming of age where "they should take over." So the Junior Board channels their efforts in "right direction," party elders decided. One of the goals of the year-old Federation off-shoot is recruiting 50 new Federation members.

Part of Round Lake Beach is in the Lake Villa Township and that seems to be clouding up the political landscape and blurring the lines between the township and the Beach. Why was the Lake Villa Township Clerk Lynn Hoffman and SURE Party activists at the last Round Lake Beach Meeting? Maybe the cartoon lady would know.

Getting settled—Dave Kohn, long-time aide of Cong. John Porter and his wife are getting settled in West Shore Park, Mundelein, after "escaping" from Washington, D.C. "Believe me, it's good to get away from there," exclaimed Kohn. Mundelein is on the western edge of Porter's basically North Shore district.

Working hard—State Rep. Virginia Fiester Frederick (R-Lake Forest) is dealing with some of the toughest legislative challenges of her career. That's because her new district includes the financially troubled North Chicago Unit School Dist. Frederick said North Chicago school leaders shun offers for assistance in managing school affairs.

"They're so proud. They want to go it alone."

Kildeer Village President Barbara Schwieter's first month in office has been quite rocky, with many residents upset with her refusal to dump longtime Village Administrator Laurel Schreiber. While Schwieter contends she did the right thing, Trustee Todd

Laurel Schreiber

Swim, who ran on Schwieter's Preservation Party, has attempted to undue Schreiber by exhibiting her past financial mistakes over several meetings. Schwieter's closest political advisor is former Lake Zurich Mayor James Kay.

Democrats should remember history's lessons

One of the frustrations of being a former history professor is that we seem to constantly witness the errors of those who refuse to benefit from history. It was George Santayana who said, "Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it."

Perhaps the biggest mistake along these lines in recent history was the failure of President Lyndon Johnson to understand the obvious lesson of Korea: We can't send our G.I.'s to fight in a land war in Asia against a home-based enemy who can command more troops than we can send halfway around the world.

On the home front, we are now experiencing another example of a leader who won't benefit from the mistakes of others.

In 1990, I along with other Republicans met with, and attempted in vain to convince, President George Bush that he was making a terrible mistake in accepting the plan of congressional Democrats for high taxes, combined with their promise of big government spending cuts, in an effort to reduce the deficit.

The President turned aside our advice and accepted the ill-conceived counsel of his budget director, Richard Darman.

The Democrats' plan for higher taxes become law, and the nation suffered a recession. The promise of reduced government spending was forgotten about as soon as the second biggest tax hike in our history was signed into law.

Although the Bush error and the ensuing recession took place less than three years ago, President Clinton apparently has forgotten this lesson in American history.

Now, the Democrats are proposing the largest tax increase in the history of civilization. One could question political motives of some Democrats when they pushed a tax hike upon a Republican president. But why are some moving to have history repeat against a member of their own party.

It is an historical fact that measurable higher taxes never improved a nation's economy.

There is no reason, whatsoever, to doubt that a huge tax hike at this time—coupled with what will turn into another empty promise of spending cuts—will result in another economic downturn for the United States at a time when we are on the road to economic recovery.

The energy tax alone could spin us off the road to recovery. For instance, even if the farmer is granted some relief, the energy tax will still result in higher grocery prices as truckers, processors, middlemen and retailers are forced to pass on to the consumer their higher costs of operation.

There are other obnoxious features of the bill besides a tax on energy based on the heat content of the fuel.

Publications, television and radio have carried the running story of the fight over higher taxes. However, I see few, if any, stories about proposed spending cuts (outside of defense) by the Administration.

If the tax bill passes, be prepared for history to repeat.

There will be no measurable reductions in government spending, the economy will plunge, and the deficit will continue to climb after a brief halt.

Incorrect ticket

I have more two cents worth! I have just received another City of Chicago parking ticket notice. After all the problems they have had with incorrect tickets, misspellings, etc... I have not been in that stinking town for over 20 years. I live in Ingleside. How could I get a ticket in Chicago?

Lacks certification

I am calling about the Lake Villa after school club. They have hired five Lake Villa bus drivers that are not certified to drive buses with air brakes. Don't you worry about the safety of your children?

No splendor in the grass

The Lakewood Forest Preserve has not been cleaned or mowed. Will it be done for the senior citizens picnic? Or, are people who cannot walk well going to get the shaft? I live in Mundelein.

All kids lose

I am hoping that the parents will come to their senses about the iceless hockey issue. They are responsible for ruining it for 800 other little children.

Grass disaster

Have you seen the Lakewood Forest Preserve? Don't go. It is a disaster. The grass is taller than most kids. The parking lot is a mess. I guess little people are not important anymore. I live in Wauconda.

A bit much

I wouldn't mind the rezoning classification if it were for building or remodeling. Instead, they are going to put up a 90 plus townhouse or apartment complex across from Grass Lake School. That is a bit more than remodeling or a room addition.

Good work

I am a citizen of Lindenhurst and want to thank all the cadets. I think they are doing a great job. They should keep up the good work.

Go-cart supporter

I am concerned about the new mayor. He is bringing in new people and trouble into town. There will be a lot of people upset if he closes down the go-carts.

Permit question

I am a Fox Lake resident and I want to know why there is not a permit for work being done on the Mineola?

Helping hand

A salute to Jim Semmerling. He was trying to help the senior citizens and the handicapped while the other politicians did nothing. There is no help in Lake Villa Township. The attitude here is sad. He is a humanitarian.

Expensive drill

In mid-May Ralph Davis held a combination photo session, drill, and inspection for the police department of Round Lake Beach. At this function everyone was dressed nicely. The on duty officers were paid straight time, which was okay. However, the off-duty officers were paid overtime! This is a ridiculous waste of money.

Not a basketball fan

Get the basketballs out of the yards. We hear the thump, thump, thump from morning until night. Play in the playgrounds not in the yards. I live in Antioch.

Good teenagers

I was wondering why it takes two police cars to stop me only to tell me that my high beams were on? Stop harassing me and my friends. There are some good teenagers in this world.

teenagers in this world.

Safe ice cream

As an operator of a legal ice cream truck, I would be more than happy to show you my sanitation and business license. All you have to do is ask. I am happy and relieved to know that the citizens of Round Lake area are taking an interest. I thank you for doing so, we worry about your kids too.

Mad about money

Whoa Nellie. This is to the $6 million man or woman from Vernon Hills. When was the last time you were in Round Lake, honey? The average income is no longer $20,000. I suggest you get your butt into your speeding car and take a look. We have really grown.

Mill Creek, Wadsworth and Lindenhurst and Lake County to come to their own plan agreement, according to Wenstrom.

Stevens said a designated agency for the study is something new. Wenstrom didn't say what lead agency means.

"We do not know what lead agency means. We need something in writing to see what it means. We also still don't know who is paying for the study," Stevens said.

Depke said lead agency means Lake County is the agency responsible for coming up with the figures that are required. He said Lake County has much of the information from past studies and will ask the affected municipalities for their information.

The study should be completed before the 18-month time period. The IEPA is unlikely to change from the NIPC recommendation, according to Depke.

Wenstrom said how soon the IEPA acts depends upon how the affected communities act and the speed the staff reviews the materials. The process could last a month or up to a year.

"If an affected community files a conflict resolution, they can demand a separate hearing by the IEPA, and it could drag on for a year," Wenstrom said.

Wenstrom said a community can also file a request with the IEPA for more information if it desires. A conflict resolution is usually a formal request that comes after the IEPA makes a decision.

According to Stevens, Lindenhurst wants to see what is in writing before it makes any action.

Residential Use on property that is zoned Suburban.

The petitioners, David and Deborah Larson and Virginia Ross, will ask the board to approve the variances that would allow the project to build a group dwelling on land that is unavailable to sewer hookups. Presently, only single family dwellings may use septic systems on land that is zoned suburban.

Antioch Township resident Dennis Murphy, who lives near the proposed development, agrees the site is a needed facility but not in its proposed location.

"I realize that the senior development is needed," said Murphy. "But, it is a good idea going into the wrong place."

The proposed property is a 16.321 acre site located on the west side of Grass Lake Road approximately 550 feet south from Lake Ave. and 500 feet north from Hillside Ave.

These and other intriguing items can be found at the extraordinary jewelry and gift shop located just over the border at 8321 Antioch Rd. (Rte. 83) in Salem, Wis.

"Jewelry Fine and Fancy" among other things is just what you'll find at Wychwolde. Patricia Jindrich, gemologist and former computer teacher/programmer, and Marjorie Miller a past high school librarian, opened the shop in November of last year in the little unincorporated town on a main through-way.

Earrings and finger rings are among some of the most popular items sold at the business, but everything from Indian and Southwestern artifacts, beautifully hewed natural white and blue pearls, Egyptian jewelry, and ancient insects encased in amber are among the articles that hangings in the shapes of fish and curly snakes adorn the interior of Wychwolde. One might wonder about a Tibetan brass "singing bowl" with a wooden pestle-type tool that sits regally on one of the shelves. It nearly does sing, making continuous haunting music that lasts for a short while as Miller demonstrated.

Prices for items at the shop can range from one dollar to in the hundreds, said

Jindrich. Wychwolde's more expensive jewelry lies in a glass case that holds gold and precious gems including diamonds, sapphires and rubies. For those with champagne taste but beer pocketbooks, a lovely wide vermeil necklace which looks like the real golden McCoy but is actually sterling silver overlaid with 14 karat gold, may foot the bill. Courtesy Corp moves into 'The Corporate Grove'

The Courtesy Corporations, a plastics working company, by the end of June will have moved into a 265,000 square foot new corporate headquarters and manufacturing facility.

Courtesy will be based on 11 acres in the Corporate Grove at 800 Corporate Grove Drive, Buffalo Grove, in what Walter Kreiseder, president, said will be one of the most beautiful and high tech facilities in the area. Architect was Dobrin Associates Ltd., Northbrook.

The 22 year old company will continue to operate out of the 135,000 square feet it currently occupies in three facilities in nearby Wheeling. "This move will be pure expansion with other expansion in the planning stages in the same corporate park," said Kreiseder. He said approximately 100 employees in production and engineering will be added.

Charles Lamphere, president of Van Vlissingen and Co., Lincolnshire, developer and manager of the Corporate Grove, previously named by the Chicago Sun-Times as the outstanding corporate park in the Chicago area, said large parks such as this one are able to handle expansion for its tenants while offering a very desirable workplace.

In 1983 they purchased a 35,000 square foot building, making this their mold making facility. Another building was purchased in 1986 and expanded to 75,000 square feet in Wheeling, where it also manufactures under clean room conditions with 39 injection molding machines. Kreiseder said 1991-92 were their best years in history.

Courtesy will have 98 injection molding machines when completed with this expansion. The machines purchased are Krauss Maffei from Munich, Germany. Seven more injection machines are expected in the next eight to ten weeks with 17 more to be placed in the near future.

What Jindrich and Miller call "Jurassic Park rocks" are actually a collection of extremely old amber stones, in which insects have been trapped. Most of the stones that are made from petrified tree sap, hold only a single insect, but according to the owners, one that was sold recently had a prehistoric fly, ant and mosquito caught altogether inside the see-through rock. The unique stones are often made into articles of jewelry ranging in price from $25 to $125. The shopkeepers said that they quickly bought up the pieces while attending the largest Gem Show in the country held in Tucson, Arizona earlier this year, simply because they knew that the movie Jurassic Park was going to be released soon, and they predicted that the stones would sell well. Jindrich explained that there are several different places that the amber can be found, namely the Baltic region and the Dominican Republic. The Dominican Republic is where the majority of the stones come from, explained Miller.

Duplicating a museum, the amazing African jewelry collection, from several parts of the continent, is unique to the midwest. Jindrich and Miller said that as far as they know, no one else in the area has any of the Mali or Mauritania made trinkets. The owners purchased the collection from a friend's estate.

According to Jindrich, the friend was living and working in Africa for 20-years, collecting the jewelry, with the idea to open his own store when he came back to the states. The women agreed that in purchasing the unusual items for their southeast Wisconsin store, they were taking a risk. But a lot of the people that they show the artifacts to, become fascinated by them, said Jindrich.

Some of the unparalleled native art assortment is made from metal but not usually gold or silver, more than likely some melted down coins, according to one of the owners of the shop. Also, hardwoods, glass beads, shells, lots of leather, and sometimes even triangular monkey's teeth make up the ingredients of the interesting works of art.

Mexican plates and pottery on display at Wychwolde Jewellery.

Necklaces with small leather pouches or "Kitabs" meaning books, containing sacred verses from the Koran or holy book, make up some of the religious jewelry from the Islamic region of Africa. Very heavy ankle bracelets are worn by the woman with the belief that it will help to protect their weak children probably weigh somewhere around two pounds each. When noting that this must be very uncomfortable for the native woman, the owners replied that it's probably no different than the ladies of this country trying to get used to wearing spike heeled shoes. "The people put up with it because it lent them prestige," said Miller.

Wychwolde is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday and closed Wednesdays. The store is open Sundays from noon to 4 p.m. for the summer. The phone number is (414) 843-4209.

HOW program strengthens builder-buyer relationship

Housing starts are maintaining a healthy recovery pace and as the U.S. economy gains momentum, homeowners will find it increasingly important to hire a reputable builder to provide quality service, according to Phil Walters, president of HOW of Greater Chicago.

The Home Owners Warranty (HOW) Program provides a specialized liability insurance product to home builders. Funded by builder members participating on a voluntary basis, the HOW Program instituted a whole new concept that has since provided more than $400 million in relief on behalf of its builders to homeowners who have been faced with major structural defects in their new homes. Today, the HOW Program is available in 49 states, more than 10,000 builders participate and over 2.5 million homes have been enrolled.

The HOW Program offers a limited warranty/liability insurance coverage to builders. HOW does not offer a consumer insurance product and does not provide insurance directly to the homeowner. HOW's warranty/liability insurance coverage is with the builder, who in turn provides a limited warranty on each home enrolled in the HOW Program.

According to Phil Walters, the HOW Program offers the builder of a new home two protections: back-up if a builder is unable to perform obligations under the two year limited warranty which the builder provides to the new home owner covering in the first year, specific defects due to faulty workmanship and materials, and in the second year, defects to specific systems and major structural defects, and builder liability insurance protection to cover the cost to repair major structural defects occurring in years three through 10.

According to Walters, the HOW Program does not cover defects resulting from insects, water seepage, normal wear and tear and deterioration, or the cost to repair defects which the homeowner has not taken timely action to minimize. "These are just a few examples of the exclusions the HOW Programs must make to its coverage in order to keep costs of the program reasonable," said Walters.

For a free copy of HOW's home maintenance brochure or a copy of "The Home Owners Guide to HOW" and a listing of HOW builders and remodelers in your area, contact Adria at HOW of Greater Chicago, 627-4692.

First Chicago introduces checks made from recycled paper

The First National Bank of Chicago now provides checks for retail customers printed on recycled paper.

"First Chicago has an on-going commitment to implement recycling programs wherever possible," said W.G. Jurgensen, executive vice president and head of First Chicago's Community Banking Group.

"We use recycled paper for our brochures and our annual report, and a year ago we started recycling checks for those customers who participate in our CopyCheck program. By issuing checks made from recycled paper, we are giving our customers the knowledge that First Chicago cares about the environment."

First Chicago will absorb the additional cost for recycled checks. The first check styles to be printed on recycled paper will be the Skyline wallet, Skyline duplicate and the safety paper checks, which make up more than 80 percent of First Chicago's annual check order volume, or about 60 million checks.

"To understand how many checks that represents, just place the 60 million checks end-to-end, and that will reach around the world from Chicago to Shanghai, China," Jurgensen said. "By using recycled checks, we will save 62.5 tons of paper annually, or approximately 400 trees."

First Chicago is the first commercial bank in metropolitan Chicago to offer checks made from recycled paper. The checks are manufactured by the John H. Harland Company. Additionally, the cardboard boxes used for mailing checks are made of recycled paper, and the vinyl checkbook covers are produced in an environmentally sound fashion.

"The next time you receive a new batch of checks from First Chicago, look for the familiar recycle symbol which will appear just to the right of your name and address," Jurgensen added.

The First National Bank of Chicago, a subsidiary of First Chicago Corporation, has more than 70 locations throughout the metropolitan area. Its north suburban branches are located in Evanston, Wilmette, Winnetka, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Glenview, Northbrook, Deerfield, and Antioch. It offers a complete line of financial products and services.

Turning on power is more than flipping a switch

by RHONDA VINZANT
Lakeland Newspapers

When the Waukegan coal generating station went on-line in 1928, electricity was a luxury for some and a fantasy for most.

Today, electricity has become nearly a basic necessity of life. When the lights go out, many sit in a world of darkness they have never experienced. Without lights, television, radio or refrigeration.

Just as the generation of power has come a long way since those early days, so have the customer service concepts that Commonwealth Edison subscribes to as one of the nation's biggest power houses.

"Our customer base is one of our greatest assets. To protect that base and outperform our competitors, we will create loyal customers by meeting our customers' needs as they define them," reads the corporation vision statement.

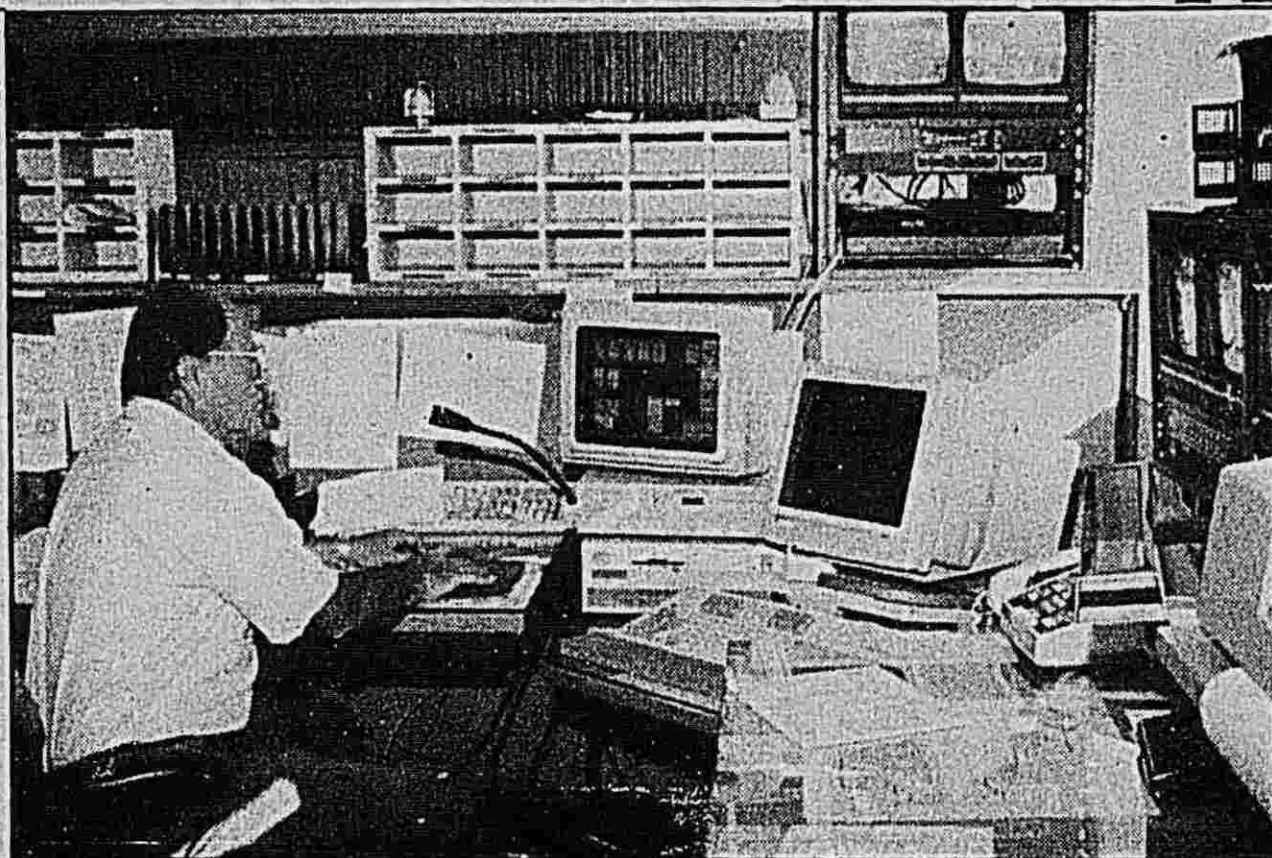

As electrical power teeters on entering its second century in Lake County, new technology is bringing quicker, safer and more efficient service to the public.

Commonwealth Edison's Libertyville facility utilizes the cutting edge of technology in each work place and in each transaction that is processed.

Opened in August of 1990, it serves as headquarters for the Northern Illinois Region and is one of five on-line customer services centers for Com Ed. The facility is the workplace for 464 individuals, 228 of which are assigned to handle regional operations.

"This facility is a classic example of Commonwealth Edison's efforts to provide the best electrical service people can have in today's society," said Harlan Dam, public affairs director.

The Libertyville facility is responsible for 28 municipalities in Lake County during normal working hours and picks up after-hours responsibilities from the Waukegan station.

The Northern Illinois region area of responsibility stretches from the Wisconsin border at the north, west to portions of McHenry County and south to the Chicago city border.

The process of bringing power from the generating stations at Zion and Waukegan to the consumer's home light switch, is a given to consumers but a big job for the men and women of Commonwealth Edison.

When one enters the Power Supply Center for the Northern Illinois Region he is entering the command and control center for regional power needs. The circular wall depicts a schematic of the region's generating stations and transmission centers and how they are linked together. Load dispatchers have the responsibility to make sure there is adequate electrical supply to the 40-by-40 mile division area.

The schematics are duplicated on computers where load dispatchers can track lines, open and shut circuit breakers and monitor alarm systems. The power center tracks the distribution of power throughout the division and is able to monitor load capacity, usage and other factors affecting electrical use.

"Our goal is to generate the amount of power that will be used and purchased by the consumer at the lowest cost possible," said Robert Poulson, senior load dispatcher. "We monitor loads and provide input to the generating center on the amount of power being used."

Technology has given the load dispatchers an edge in the past several years. In 1985, the first computerization of the distribution system was accomplished. Today, the Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition program (SKADA) is in place.

"The computers can sense when a circuit is being over-loaded or voltage is being lowered," said Poulson. "We know immediately which equipment is bad, the trouble that is occurring and are able to evaluate the problems through sensors." The computer screens also indicate an audible and visual alarm when a voltage point is not operating properly.

"We can actually open and shut breakers from the computer keyboard," said Poulson. "When crews arrive on a scene they know what, where and how to investigate and respond immediately. This works to eliminate downtime."

Load dispatchers can call-up on their screens a particular transmission center to check for load levels and monitor alarm systems. Commonwealth Edison can now accomplish functions at the computer key board that used to necessitate sending a crew to investigate.

The power center is also linked to the National Weather Service computers to monitor weather systems that affect electric usage. "We can monitor wind speed and direction, lightning and severe storms," said Poulson.

"The weather service computers are very useful when severe weather is moving into the area," said Poulson. "If it looks like we're going to get a severe storm with lots of lightning, we know we'll have down lines and outages. By tracking the weather we can plan for crew rotations and overtime that is the most cost effective and that results in the rapid restoration of power to the affected area."

Next week, Lakeland will examine new technologies that are rapidly changing customer service operations at Commonwealth Edison.

Placing crosses, flags

Veterans gather at Fort Sheridan to place crosses and flags at gravesites. In front: Dick Kutz. Second row: Leroy Verne, Tom Rizzo, Jerry Vleck and Charles Cutrano. The public is invited to place crosses and flags June 26 and 27.

Cutrano's mission not over as last flag placed at fort

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When the final American flag is flying at Fort Sheridan Sunday afternoon, Charles Cutrano may breathe a sigh of relief.

His mission, though, will not be over. Not by a long shot.

"I am not going to stop here. I will be looking into how to get a Congressional investigation started. I want to know who has their finger in the pie," Cutrano said.

Cutrano is inviting veterans and the public to the Highland Park fort June 26 and 27, 9 a.m. to sunset, to place crosses and flags at gravesites.

Cutrano is getting the word out this week by circulating flyers at a Round Lake Beach shopping center and mailing out flyers, at his own expense, to all media, even the foreign press.

The veterans are frustrated that something that was once promised them - the 142 acre cemetery at the fort, has now been taken away.

Cutrano, a Gurnee resident, said plans are in the works to open up a trust account.

"If every veteran in the state gave $1, we could go above $37 million," Cutrano said, citing the price quoted by the Dept. of Defense.

"I feel I have to do it. This is the weekend to do it," Jerome Vleck of Deerfield said.

He attended many of the meetings of the Fort Sheridan Commission.

"It was just for show. It had nothing to do with the veterans," Vleck, past 10th Dist. Commander, said.

The fort now has the look of the closed fort which ended active service last month. The huge buildings where the generals and the dignitaries stayed are still there, along with the jail, theatre and post office, but vacant. The sign still reads "10 MPH when troops are in formation." Only an occasional passer-by of the traffic patrol or salute from a veteran paying his last respects break the silence.

Tom Rizzo, of Lake Zurich American Legion Post 964, like Cutrano, is a Korean War era veteran.

"We were stationed in Germany, but we had to go everywhere in pairs because of the Communists," Rizzo said.

Hooks Lumber of Grayslake donated wood for the crosses while Ace Hardware of Round Lake Beach donated flags.

Waterway seeks state funds

New state funds are being sought by the Chain O'Lakes/Fox River Waterway Management Agency which was designed to be self-funding with user fees.

Chairman William C. Dam, Fox Lake physician and former mayor of Fox Lake, indicated in a letter to State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Antioch) that the request will be made at a breakfast meeting in July.

Dam made the request known in a letter to Churchill and a statement that the agency "cannot correct 40 years of neglect and address the deterioration of our waterways and the suspended solids through the system because of silting on our current user fee budget."

According to the letter, the agency, which operates mainly with income from sale of boating stickers for the Chain and Fox River, likely will bid for enabling legislation to obtain additional revenue.

Dam, who serves voluntarily without pay as does a board of commissioners elected from both Lake and McHenry counties, said the agency has about $500,000 in dredging projects in progress "with about three years worth of permits from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to go."

Support of the Army Corps and the Illinois Div. of Transportation was emphasized in the letter to Churchill. For 1993 alone, Dam reported that 37 projects have been approved at agency sponsored public meetings and are being permitted by various state and federal agencies.

Besides the dredging responsibilities to open up clogged channels, the agency has safety and water quality responsibilities. Dam mentioned that the agency maintains a system of more than 500 buoys to assist safe navigation. An estimated five to 10 percent of the agency's budget goes for safety patrols.

"We're doing our job, but we need additional help," Dam declared.

To offset environmental criticism, Dam pointed out that the agency has a good record with the Army Corps and the Chain O'Lakes/Fox River Special Area Management Plan (SAMP). He also informed Churchill that the agency expects to get a U.S. Environmental Protection Agency water quality grant to help project against shoreline erosion.

This summer the agency will move 10,000 truck loads of spoils material from the Ackerman containment site near Antioch.

Dam told the state representative that the agency is filling public needs from Wilmot to Algonquin.

Forest Preserve budget down

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. will be spending 33 percent less in 1993-94 fiscal year budget than it did in the previous year.

The budget, unanimously approved by commissioners, includes $26,314,810 in expenditures, $19,979,224.

"The 1993-94 budget is a conservative spending plan that still provides the district with the ability to fulfill its mission and obligation to the residents of Lake County. To meet the challenge of continuing to provide existing programs and services while developing new opportunities, district commissioners and staff respond positively by working with the limited funding resources available in an era of fiscal constraint," Steven Messerli, executive director, said.

The budget includes $55,500 for informational materials for a Nov. 2 referendum. Bond funds from a 1989 issue are almost depleted, the commissioners were informed.

Other budget goals included:

- Protect the long-term financial integrity of the district.
- Continue the trend of lowering the tax levy.
- Expand upon the conservation and natural resource management of district lands.

Clayton joins Depke to back gasoline tax

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

County Board Chairman Robert (Bob) Depke has picked up a strong ally in his effort to institute a four cent gasoline tax earmarked for new highway construction.

State Rep. Verna Clayton (R-Buffalo) spoke out in favor of the county gasoline tax, referring to it as a "user fee" as Depke has been promoting to answer funding needs for improved highway transportation.

Both Depke and Clayton talked about a county imposed four cent gasoline tax at the annual meeting of the Transportation Management Assn. of Central Lake County (TMA) held at College of Lake County.

Depke said he believes so strongly in the "user fee" concept that "I'm willing to be the fall guy" for the criticism that will come the way of any official supporting a tax increase.

The tough-talking county leader said that he's sounded out Springfield officials about instituting enabling legislation to make the tax legal, "but the state doesn't seem to have the stamina necessary" to impose the tax.

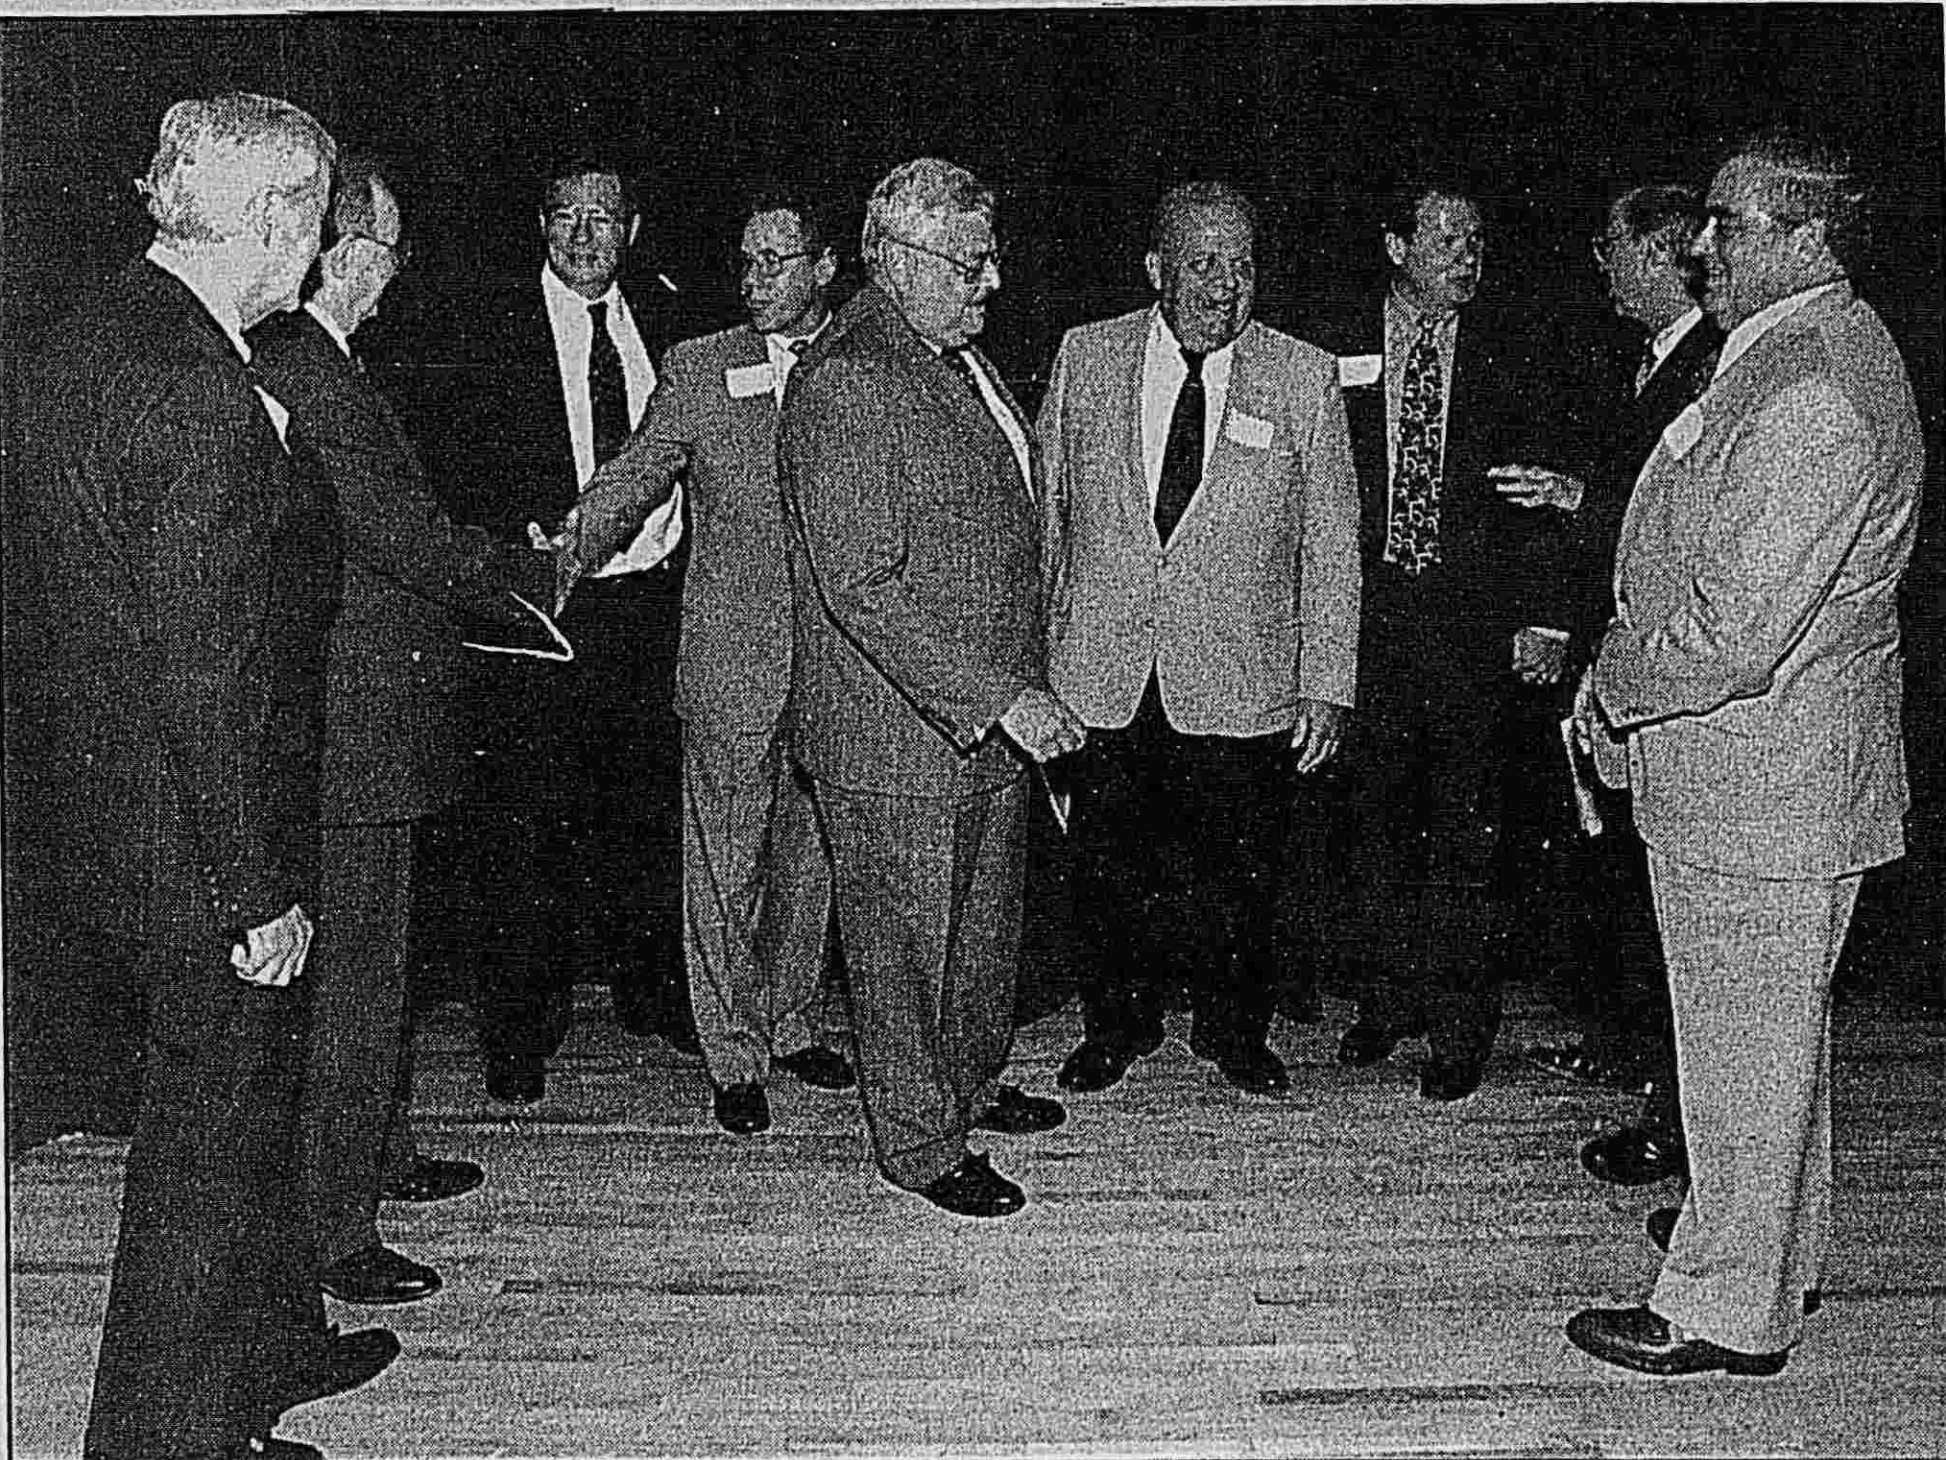

In voicing support for a county-wide gasoline tax, Clayton confirmed that there is no pending legislation to make the gasoline levy legal. The Illinois Supreme Court held that such a tax was unconstitutional.

Clayton, former mayor of Buffalo Grove, described the individual motorist's share of the motor fuel tax "very small." Motor fuel tax returns to local government is a major source of road building funding.

Besides election of the 1993 board of directors, TMA heard a detailed report from Barbara Hayskar, Northbrook Chamber of Commerce president, on the Employee Commute Options (ECO) advisory committee. Hayskar is chairman of the committee working on implementation of a major part of the federal Clean Air Act.

Hayskar explained that ECO basically is suburban trip reduction. Companies with 100 or more employees are affected.

The committee has been working on clarifying complicated provisions of the legislation spelling out ways employers

Conflicts in arriving at even handed administration result, Hayskar pointed out, when city officials look at implementation in a business retention or marketing light.

The complicated legislation even covers employees who work out of their homes.

Tim Neuman, a consultant, described efforts involving strategic regional arterial planning.

Planners look at solutions from a "build out" point of view regarding growth and development. The idea is to "get ahead" of growth to plan for highway and traffic needs, Neuman pointed out.

One new measurement being used in SRA work, Neuman stated, is measuring "maximum person carrying capabilities" of a highway corridor rather than cars per day or persons per car.

Neuman said public input is important and listened to by planners.

National 911 group to hear Save A Life's plans

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Carol Spizzirri began her effort to raise public awareness about the importance of CPR training, the emphasis was on Springfield and seeking legislation requiring teachers and policeman to have CPR training.

"I never suspected it could get so widespread. More and more people are interested, from large corporations to individuals," Spizzirri said.

The spark for Save A Life Foundation was the death of Spizzirri's daughter, Christina. Christina was killed in a car crash in Park City Sept. 7, 1992.

"CPR is for any individual, not just a particular group of people," Spizzirri said.

Next week, the message will be received north of the border as Spizzirri will give a speech to an Enhanced 911 conference in Montreal on June 27.

The National Safety Council states 14,000 Americans die annually from accidental injuries and one of four Americans suffers a non-fatal injury.

Spizzirri's efforts have won praise from Illinois Sec. of State George Ryan and area legislators.

"I think it is a great program," Ryan said during a stop in Grayslake.

Spizzirri, who resides in Woodland Meadows subdivision, was successful in having a bill passed which created a task force to study CPR related issues. That task force is due to report to Gov. Jim Edgar in January.

"This will be an excellent opportunity to craft a workable, multi-agency agreement more likely to receive the full support of the General Assembly," Terrance Gainer, director of the Illinois State Police, said.

There has been talk of having CPR training made mandatory to receive a drivers' license, as is the case in Germany. "That might be more difficult," State Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda), said.

The audience of hundreds of first responders in Canada will hear of efforts to have dispatchers know CPR.

"They could help calm a caller and then help the victim by reading step-by-step instructions. They would get the satisfaction of knowing they helped," Spizzirri said.

Among those who have endorsed Save A Life or expressed interest in it: American Assn. of Retired Persons; National Emergency Number Assn. 911; National Safety Council; American Red Cross; Medical Devices International; Illinois Parents Teachers Assn.; American Trucking Assn.; Illinois Dept. of Public Health; Illinois Retired Teachers Assn.; Benefit Trust Life Insurance Co.; Congressman John Porter (R-Lake Bluff) and U.S. Senator Paul Simon (D) and Illinois Board of Education.

Persons may join the foundation's efforts as a benefactors, $1,000; sponsors, $500; donors, $250 and contributors, $100.

Volunteers may type letters, make phone calls and help in fund raising. Memberships are available for $35 for one year, $60 two year or for corporations.

For more information, call Save A Life at 549-7353.

Opera singers settle in

John and Kate Milligan have friends all over the world. The two of them have trotted the globe performing in musical theater, straight theater and opera.

Settling in Chicago for a time, they began to look for a community in which to make a permanent home. Somewhere friendly, affordable, and it had to be near a major airport.

"A friend asked if we had ever thought of Libertyville," said John. "We thought it was too far, but we drove around and we liked what we saw."

by SUZIE REED

Kate added, "You are close enough where you need to be. It's a homey atmosphere and a good community. The people are real."

And it's an easy matter to get to O'Hare and their agent in New York.

They moved into the little cottage on Third Street in the middle of May.

A former attached garage, perhaps a family room for previous owners, is now a music room. John and Kate plan to add a larger studio at the back of the house.

Kate, who performs under her maiden name of Katherine Kulas, is setting up a vocal studio and will teach classes in all kinds of music.

"People should be able to enjoy what they do," she said. "It doesn't matter if they want to perform in public or not."

They plan to also offer a course in how to prepare for an audition.

John will be involved in the studio as well. His position at Century 21 Kreuser and Seiler Ltd. allows him the flexibility to pursue his professional music career.

The two of them have a close partnership. Married only last year, their courtship began "in the Frankfort Opera House in a lift that didn't work," according to John. If either of them had been a few minutes later, they would have missed each other.

John had to work fast. In three days he was returning to Australia. A native of New Zealand, he is a versatile performer.

"Opera is a very expensive media to stage. I was trained in straight theater as well."

His credits include "The Sound of Music," "Oliver!" and "To Kill a Mocking Bird."

Kate began her career as a young child singing in church. She plans to return to her hometown in Wisconsin to sing in a service honoring the retiring pastor.

Vocal music is not her only talent.

"I had to make a choice between the bassoon and voice," she says.

She has performed as Rosalinda in "Die Fledermaus" and as Stephano in "Romeo & Juliet."

The Milligans have separate careers but have been touring as a duo in "The Theater of Music," a production that features a variety of performing arts including musical theater, dramatic character acting and skits.

"Opera is a very narrow field," says John. "This program has opera pieces but they're very understandable."

They have just returned from Durham North, Carolina, where Kate was performing the lead in the Triangle Opera Theater production "Roman Fever," a Robert Ward opera based on a short story by Edith Wharton.

John will soon begin rehearsals for his role as Bonze in "Madam Butterfly" to be presented this summer at the DuPage Arts Center.

"It's not an easy business to be in today," says Kate. "It's worth it when you know you have reached the audience."

"People want to be entertained," John says. "There is no excuse for bad theater. People expect to be transported and entertained. You have to have that dedication."

Volunteer Baker enjoying working with Connection

A Gurnee resident is the winner of this year's Volunteer-of-The-Year for CONNECTION, Lake County's only 24-hour crisis intervention and referral service.

Pat Baker is the 19th winner of the prestigious award, presented at the annual recognition dinner in Libertyville.

"Pat is absolutely great on the line and great for training new workers. She is also on call from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m.," Ruth Weller, phone room manager, said.

Baker is a five-year volunteer at CONNECTION and completed course work through both the College of Lake County and CONNECTION. Weller said it is rare for a volunteer to complete both programs.

New volunteers receive 35 hours of classes and 12 hours with a trained volunteer before their first four-hour shifts. Days are broken down into six four-hour shifts.

Crisis line workers provide someone to listen to them, someone who is trained to provide appropriate referral help for medical, legal, employment or counseling.

In 1992, CONNECTION volunteers answered 42,836 calls requesting help. That was an increase of 3,935 calls over the previous year.

Baker is one of 100 volunteers who man the crisis-referral lines 52 weeks a year.

Crowns, noisemakers and banners

Families can make their own Statue of Liberty crowns to wear for Fourth of July celebrations, make noisemakers to take to the parades and create banners and flags for the holiday festivities between now and July 3 at Teacher Place and Parent Resources.

The non-profit educational resource center supports families learning together in academic and lighthearted ways. The center is located at 533 Milwaukee Ave., Burlington, Wis. and may be used by anyone. Children must be with an adult.

The noisemaker and small banner are free to make with admission and the materials for the Statue of Liberty crown are $2. Drop-in hours are Tuesday and Wednesday from noon until 7 p.m., Thursday from 5 until 8 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Call (414) 763-3946 or 728-5623 for more information.

Sealed with a kiss

Through Aug. 29, Chicago Children's Museum will present its newest exhibit, Sealed with a Kiss: Mail Art, sponsored by the United Parcel Service Foundation.

S.W.A.K.: Mail Art is a highly interactive exhibit of fanciful art that redefines the everyday act of mailing a bill or sending a letter to a friend. Mail Art is art that has been postmarked; it is correspondence designed to please the eye as well as the mind. There are thousands of artists worldwide who create art out of and on spaces as little as a nineteen cent postcard or a letter size envelope—and then send it to someone through the mail.

Design stations in the exhibit will offer paper, paint, rubber stamp images, markers, copy machine art and found objects to all who wish to try their hand at creating their own masterpiece to mail to a special pen pal. In addition, young artist will be able to commemorate important individuals or events in their own lives by designing and then making their own stamps. Also on display in this section will be winning entries from the Illinois Department of Conservation's Junior Duck Stamp Contest.

Chicago Children's Museum is dedicated to the needs and interest of children and their families. Located at 465 E. Illinois Street n North Pier Chicago, 2nd Floor. For more information, call (312) 527-1000.—by RHONDA VINZANT

Miami's Art Deco District Secret Playground of The Europeans

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

I still have postcards my Grandmother sent me during her annual winter vacations to South Miami Beach in the 40's. I remember the stunning geometric designs and the rainbow of pastel colors of the Art Deco Hotels.

During the 1970's, South Miami Beach felt upon hard times and as recently as the early 1980's, these works of Art (which once catered to the Rich and Famous) became little more than "Flop-Houses".

Now, after almost ten years of extensive restoration at a cost of millions of dollars, Miami Beach's Art Deco District has risen from decades of neglect to become what is known worldwide as "America's Riviera". Yet America's most famous beach is still mostly undiscovered by Americans.

Even the beach, which has almost disappeared due to erosion in the 1970's, has been revitalized thanks to a multi-million dollar Army Corp of Engineers project. It now stretches over ten miles and is nearly 1/2 mile wide. I don't know of many beaches in the Caribbean that can match that.

I recently visited one of these renovated treasures of the 40's. I was invited by Mr. Jay Mirnell to spend a night at his hotel, the Surfcomber located at 1717 Collins Ave., right on the beach and in the center of the Art Deco District.

The Surfcomber reminded me of a typical European hotel with its sidewalk cafe and quaint lobby. The pool area was very Art Deco, lined with what once were private cabanas, now converted to an exercise room and other uses. There was a second story sundeck and a palapa covered pool-side bar, where, according to a couple of Danish models I met in the pool, several European commercials have been filmed. Just past the pool area are the miles of sand and surf known as Miami Beach.

I met many European tourists during my stay in Miami Beach. It seems as though "America's Riviera" is a real hot spot for the European tourists. Like many other things, we don't often appreciate the treasures we have right here in our own country.

U Hot Dog Choo Choo offers speedy delivery

U Hot Dog Choo Choo Eatery located at 10 S. Rte. 12 can "train-sport" its specialties to your marina or you may pick up the goodies to-go, or eat them in either the 30-seat front section or have a party in the 35-seat dining room in the back of the restaurant.

Bill Falster and Jim Segin began the business in July of 1989 and are currently entering their fifth year in the village of Fox Lake. The business keeps on growing, according to Falster, who noted that pretty soon they may have to expand again.

When Segin and Falster started out, they didn't do any deliveries. Now they make lots of them to area residents, but especially to the boaters in the summer vacation resort town on the Chain O' Lakes. Some boat passengers actually telephone from portable phones on the vessels, and raft into shore where they pick up their food from U Hot Dog Choo Choo Eatery. Catering is also a new approach that Falster and Segin have added to the restaurant business. Large package orders, said Falster, must be made by reservation at least 48-hours in advance.

Some of the more popular edibles are the Jumbo Hot Dogs, larger than your average dog, for $1.64. It can be made with any toppings available, and also in the "True Chicago" fashion with tiny but hot sport peppers. For dinner fare, one of the recommended meals might be the Chicken Dinner complete with cole slaw, fries, and rolls at $4.50.

Another well-liked item is the Italian Beef at $3.35 or Mozzarella Cheese-and-Beef Sandwiches at $3.65. Sweet peppers or a variety of different hot types of peppers are available also. A plethora of other sandwiches including the favorite Alpine Burger with sauerkraut, mustard, pickles and Swiss cheese is on the menu. The business also sells bagged ice which boaters and others often purchase during the hot months, and chocolate, strawberry and vanilla shakes are cooling drinks available along with the old-time Green Rivers.

Hours for the business are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and also Sunday; and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Phone and order your lunch or dinner in advance at (708) 587-FAST (3278), or just stop in the U Hot Dog Choo Choo Eatery.—by TINA SWIECH

'Ripe Conditions' provides amusement

Critic's Choice

"Ripe Conditions," a comedy by Claudia Allen making its Midwest premiere at Chicago's Victory Gardens, provides its share of amusement as two brothers in rural Michigan vie for the affections of the woman who ran off and married their late brother.

But the three-member cast directed by Sandy Shinner must stretch to many laughs from the sometimes awkward script.

John Judd and Larry Neumann make a delightful odd couple: one plays a bodacious know-it-all whose hobby is making chainsaw mushrooms and the other is a simpering weasel who is prone to hypochondria.

They form a mutual admiration society for Ann (played by Linda Kimbrough), an old flame with an unlikely job who has returned to her hometown for a funeral but finds herself in the middle of a raging tornado.

The dilapidated country cottage where the action takes place is cliché to the genre. How set designer Patrick Kerwin manages to doctor it up further in the second act is a wonder. Galen Ramsey gets credit for some realistic and downright unnerving sound effects.

"Ripe Conditions" will play through July 4. Ticket information is available at (312)871-3000.—by TOM WITOM

Here's where we warn parents of impressionable grade school children that "Jurassic" is rated PG-13, putting many grade schoolers at risk as far as follow-up nightmares are concerned. Spielberg is a master at scaring his audience to death.

Now for the negatives. This dinosaur haven is supposedly located off the coast of Central America and when our four scientists, Sam Neill, Laura Dern, Jeff Goldblum and Bob Peck, and park owner Richard Attenborough's two grand-children arrive to test market the theme park, they suddenly find that the main entertainment involves man-eating monsters.

You'll yell, you'll scream, and if you're like us, you find yourself more interested in being frightened than caring about the people in the story. We haven't quite figured out this reaction because the actors certainly are doing their job. Maybe the script lacks sensitivity, or maybe it's because Spielberg still hasn't learned to transfer his expertise in terror to the handling of humans.

Face it, folks, dinosaurs are in! "Jurassic" is a must see event for movie lovers and this one will lose a lot on the small screen if you wait for the video.

On that premise, we give "Jurassic" four out of five stars because it really is a spectacle of spectacles. —by GLORIA DAVIS

That ain't Barney with Sam Neill and his two charges, Ariana Richards and Joseph Mazello.

Wheel World

Kudos for 'Jurassics' mechanics

Anyone who doesn't think that Steven Spielberg's "Jurassic Park" will be one of the biggest blockbusters of the year didn't try to see it opening weekend when most theaters featuring it had lines circling the block.

Lovers of outstanding special effects, who worship at the altar of the Spielbergs, Lucas, Harlins and the McTiernans, perpetrators of such marvelous shockers as "Poltergeist," "Raiders of the Lost Ark," "Die Hard," and Schwarzenegger specials, will love this one.

Is it the greatest spectacle to date (don't forget Arnold's new flick arrives this week)? Hard to say. Spielberg uses some of the same fantastic ideas he has used before. We felt that they are just as effective the second time around, but some might feel that these bottles have already been opened.

How would your kids feel about a theme park inhabited by real live dinosaurs? This is what happens when a mad scientist puts his two cents in and blows up the main entertainment until it's literally bigger than life.

That's the premise of "Jurassic." Personally we still don't understand the juvenile absorption with these prehistoric monsters, although it has grown by lizards and bounds in the last few years. But then again, we still don't understand why "Ugly" is in, so maybe we aren't being as open minded as we usually try to be.

By the way, we will also admit that our dislike for reptiles in general had us turning our heads away from the screen when some of the more horrendously realistic and terrible scenes, like the one prominently featuring these lovely

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You'll be bitten by the travel bug this week, so drag out those brochures. Put your curiosity to good use, and investigate new subjects. Leisure plans work out at the last minute. You'll enjoy a night out on the town this weekend. ★

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have a renewed interest in making money and adding to your possessions, but you need to take care this week concerning agreements. There are a few problems to deal with, but by week's end, you're at peace with yourself. You spend the weekend indulging in gossip. ★

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Increased determination plus added get-up-and-go make you a force to be reckoned with this week. Watch carelessness in financial matters. At some point, you'll have difficulty reaching or understanding others. The weekend, though, brings magical rapport. ★

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It's time to dust off mental cobwebs and to draw on subconscious strengths. A behind-the-scenes vantage point suits you this week. Socially, you're on the go and perhaps somewhat careless in spending. A career break comes by the weekend through a social contact. ★

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Though you have misgivings about a relationship, the way is clear for increased social activity. Plan a get-together in the near future. You won't feel right this week until you've completed a few tasks. Once done, you'll be in the mood to party. ★

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Family is more of a distraction than a help now. This week, you take steps to climb further up the ladder of success. Matters of friendship are highlighted early in the week. Later, there may be a temporary letdown. ★

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Career stirrings won't amount to much this week, but a desire for self-improvement sends you investigating a possible course of study. You're highly motivated now and will take some steps to advance. Social life swings upward this weekend. ★

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You may have unrealistic expectations about travel, but you're down to earth about new ways to improve overall security. There are some important career matters brewing. Initial complications fall away, and success is the outcome. ★

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Financial matters are under a cloud, and it's best to stay away from get-rich-quick schemes. Get to know a close ally better. You'll put your investments on firm footing this week. The weekend brings romantic enchantment. ★

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Hard work seems easy for you since you are so conscious of your goals this week. Be more attentive, though, in personal relationships. The help you seek may come from a family member. Focus on home life this weekend. ★

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Romance and good times are foremost in your mind this week. Consequently, there's a tendency to let things slide on the job. Work is the keynote later in the week, but play fills up the weekend. In romance, you will see eye to eye. ★

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Sprucing up your home may be on your agenda this week. In fact, home is your best base now. A work problem is not as difficult as it appears. This weekend, enjoy hobbies and recreation, but be careful not to overdo. ★

Saint Therese services heal body, soul

A chaplain dedicated to home health care service is now visiting those patients at Saint Therese Medical Center in Waukegan whose spiritual needs

by MARK HAHN
Lakeland Newspapers

may not be being met.

Saint Therese Home Health Director Karen Laurent, R.N., said the program grew out of hospice pastoral care service, and is the only one of its kind in Lake County.

"There are a lot of patients with spiritual needs and home health can't always come through," said Laurent. "The chaplain will go in and connect with the families, and establish a rapport with them. She is a firm believer that spiritual care should be intimately personalized, not just a formal visit from a clergy person. She does the same with home health patients. She counsels patients directly or concentrates on identifying contracting and working with patients and their priests, ministers or rabbis."

Any home health patient is a candidate for pastoral care. Physicians and home health staff can refer current patients that request a visit from a chaplain, have ongoing spiritual needs or would like a chaplain to act as a liaison to local clergy.

Nancy Lou Kelly, MPS, a ten year veteran of the pastoral care field certified in pastoral clinical care sees six patients a day in their homes. She brings sacraments to the patients bedside, and reads and discusses scriptural passages and prays with them. As a spiritual care giver, she is open to the patients, concerns, and is sensitive and supports the patient's struggles with questions that lack easy resolutions.

"We often find questions; the dialogue and the spiritual companionship may be more important to patients than finding absolute answers," Kelly said.

"There isn't a health care professional out there that doesn't incorporate some sense of reaching beyond the physical needs of the patient for treatment," said Kelly. "However, we in pastoral care can take the necessary time to assess a patient's spiritual needs and address those needs. When a patient feels he or she has been heard, the amazing power of their psyche often invokes healing."

Chaplain Kelly said that she asks patients to re-connect with their spiritual feelings. Together, they can address pain, healing, even death from a holistic point of view. Assessments made are noted and provided to the nursing staff to offer further insights for medical treatment.

Saint Therese Medical Center's Home health service provides nurses, therapists, nursing assistants and social workers to patients who are unable to utilize those services offered within a hospital. Most of the time, patients are elderly and live in their own homes or at skilled care facilities.

In fulfillment of Saint Therese Medical Center's mission statement, patients are not charged for the service of a pastor care worker.

Chaplain Nancy Lou Kelly counsels patients on the spiritual aspects of health care for Saint Therese Medical Center's new Pastoral Care Home Health Service.

Stylish slaws

Love your heart by CAROLE STERN

You can shred it, chop it or flavor it with Tahi, Indian, or Mexican flavors, but using a head of cabbage with imagination promises a lot of fun. This vegetable is adaptable, rich in nutrients and very affordable. It is high in vitamin C, but low in calories, fat and cholesterol. Use green, red, Napa or Chinese (bok choy) cabbages, and mix them with such ingredients as apples, red beans, shrimp, or soy sauce. The secret to a good slaw is to chill the cabbage.

1/4 cup low-fat sour cream
2 tablespoons spicy vegetable juice cocktail
1 tablespoons lime juice
1/2 teaspoon ground pepper

Combine first 7 ingredients in a large bowl; toss well. Combine sour cream and next 3 ingredients in a bowl; stir well. Add to cabbage mixture, tossing to coat. Cover and chill. Serves: 8

2 tablespoons reduced-calories mayonnaise
1 tablespoons reduced-calorie chili sauce
1/2 teaspoon dried whole tarragon
1/4 teaspoon dried oregano

Griefnotes

Why don't we forget funerals and get on with living?

When presidents and national heroes die the nation has elaborate ceremonies to mark their deaths. We mourn heroes because their lives mean something to us, they are important to the morale and life of the nation. When someone we love dies we mourn also. They are important to us and we need to mark their passing with appropriate ceremonies. The ceremonies we have for the deceased help us express our feelings about the person's life and our feelings of loss. Through ceremony we express tribute and say goodbye to those who have been close to us. If we did not take the time to express our feelings at a formal ceremony we would find it more difficult to let go of the past and get on with living.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: Is there a limit as to how many times a person can apply for unemployment compensation? The reason I ask, is that a friend of a friend, has been receiving unemployment checks for what seems to be several years now. He will take a job here or there for a week or two and then sits back and picks up odd jobs for cash. It appears as though he is living quite comfortably and brags about this. Personally, it makes me sick. Does anyone follow up on people like this? A.R. - Lindenhurst

A: Dear A.R. How many times can a person apply for a job? Possibilities may be endless, or to most, preferably few and far between. Just because an individual applies for unemployment compensation does not necessarily make them eligible and will be a recipient. Unemployment recipients are required on a weekly basis to turn in a list of companies they have contacted for employment. Failure to file these forms weekly results in a loss of wages. Furthermore, failure to report accurate information, or reporting of fraudulent information, can not only result in loss of wages, but can also have legal ramifications such as reimbursement and in cases, incarceration. There are special groups affiliated with the Department of Unemployment Security that are specifically designed to follow up on weekly claim forms to be sure that the information as to their active work search is valid. These groups will contact companies to insure the fact that if an individual claims to have applied for a job with the ABC company ... they in fact did so. Every unemployed wage recipient should take the Department of Unemployment seriously. The system should not be abused. The people who suffer are the taxpayers in this country. If you know of someone who is wrongfully receiving unemployment wages while currently working, you may contact your local Department of Unemployment Security (Waukegan).

If on the other hand any readers out there feel that they have wrongfully been denied unemployment compensation, it is your right to contact the Unemployment office where you applied and ask to go before an Arbitration Officer who can make a final determination. In either case ... be sure you have all the facts ready.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: Is there a limit as to how many times a person can apply for unemployment compensation? The reason I ask, is that a friend of a friend, has been receiving unemployment checks for what seems to be several years now. He will take a job here or there for a week or two and then sit back and picks up odd jobs for cash. It appears as though he is living quite comfortably and brags about this. Personally, it makes me sick. Does anyone follow up on people like this? A.R. - Lindenhurst

A: Dear A.R. How many times can a person apply for a job? Possibilities may be endless, or to most, preferably few and far between. Just because an individual applies for unemployment compensation does not necessarily make them eligible and will be a recipient. Unemployment recipients are required on a weekly basis to turn in a list of companies they have contacted for employment. Failure to file these forms weekly results in a loss of wages. Furthermore, failure to report accurate information, or reporting of fraudulent information, can not only result in loss of wages, but can also have legal ramifications such as reimbursement and in cases, incarceration. There are special groups affiliated with the Department of Unemployment Security that are specifically designed to follow up on weekly claim forms to be sure that the information as to their active work search is valid. These groups will contact companies to insure the fact that if an individual claims to have applied for a job with the ABC company ... they in fact did so. Every unemployed wage recipient should take the Department of Unemployment seriously. The system should not be abused. The people who suffer are the taxpayers in this country. If you know of someone who is wrongfully receiving unemployment wages while currently working, you may contact your local Department of Unemployment Security (Waukegan).

If on the other hand any readers out there feel that they have wrongfully been denied unemployment compensation, it is your right to contact the Unemployment office where you applied and ask to go before an Arbitration Officer who can make a final determination. In either case ... be sure you have all the facts ready.

Duathlete Martin set to take on world's best

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Bill Martin was running to stay in shape, an injury led him to find a sport which will take him to Paris next fall.

Martin, an Antioch Township resident, will be competing in the world championships in the duathlon, a combination of biking and running. He advanced through regional competition near St. Paul, Minn.

"Just the cross-training. When I was running, I injured a hamstring for three years. It was chronic. I took up biking to rehabilitate. I found out there were races that were running and biking," Martin said.

For Martin, the competition is a welcome break from sitting in the cab of heavy equipment all day, working for Camosy Construction.

"That is one of the reasons I started running because all you do is sitting in the cab all day," he offered.

The Minnesota race was one of 10 regionals in the U.S. Martin competes in the 41-44 age group bracket, one he said is very competitive. His qualifying time was 1:13:10.

"It is very competitive. Real competitive because masters is the next age group coming up," Martin said.

No help is allowed during or before the race. "It is just total concentration on either the run or the bike, whichever one I am doing," Martin said.

"I raced the week before in Columbus, Ohio and missed qualifying by 20 seconds. I got beat out by the No. 3-ranked qualifier in the United States, Tony Dodds," Martin said.

Martin was second in a race in St. Louis although on a shorter two-mile run, 10-mile bike and two-mile run course. That race was run in 30-degree temperatures in April. He was second in a Riverton, Wis. race and third with a 1:15:19.

Martin did not participate in high school sports, but works out at a health club.

Although bikes can be fancy, and cost thousands, Martin uses "just a Schwinn."

"I want to be the No. 1 U.S. finisher," Martin said of the World Duathlon Championships.

Duathlon is not an Olympic event. It has been around for about 10 years.

"I will coast, meaning not training as intensely. I will run a few local races. I will start heavy again in July.

The Waters, Mich. native tries to race on an every-three-weeks basis.

He has tried a triathlon.

"I competed in a triathlon in Milwaukee. There was a 250-yard swim and I was in last place. I eventually caught up to finish third," he said.

Keenly focused on two events, Martin is well on his way to Paris for the event Oct. 25.

Road to Atlanta goes via Missouri

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The scene seemed to be typical enough for a June Sunday in Gurnee.

Tennis players were working on their backhand return, a softball team was practicing in Viking Park and a group renting the Warren High School auditorium filled the parking lot. The football field was desolate, a far cry from the hoopla of graduation 19 hours earlier.

But if you are Geoff Heskett, the day was anything but typical. Heskett, alone in the field next to the football stadium, was working on his goal.

"My goal is a national championship," Heskett said.

A trip to Atlanta for the 1996 Olympics is also a goal.

Heskett competed in the shot and discus at Warren, but today he is concentrating on the hammer throw. The Northeast Missouri State Bulldog heaved one 186 feet in the NCAA Division II meet.

"The only difference is you are by yourself and have to be self-motivated," Heskett said.

Heskett was a walk-on at the Kirksville, Mo. school but earned a scholarship last year.

"I was a little disappointed. I thought I could do better," Heskett said of his effort at the national meet.

He said he picked up the 16-pound hammer throw naturally with the help of a Bulldog assistant coach who competed in the same event, Rich Hayward.

"The event is real intriguing and different. I picked it up pretty quickly," Heskett said.

Heskett is dominating the Missouri college's conference as nationals are his main challenge.

"There are not many people who know what they are doing. I try to help them whenever I can. I want to promote the sport. That is more important than winning," Heskett said.

Heskett played center for Warren, but football in college was not a possibility due to his size.

"I would not want to do anything different," he said.

Heskett will be working out on a brand-new ring area in Kirksville when he returns in August. The school is building a new track facility.

Heskett is equally as focused on his off-the-ring goals as he is trying to clear 180 feet with the hammer. The Gurnee resident is an intern this summer at Brookfield Zoo, where he would someday like to work on his major of pre-med animal science.

"We have the new Habitat Africa exhibit and two Zebra, whose species are extinct in the wild and are pregnant. It will be exciting to bring two new animals into the world," Heskett said.

Heskett's efforts may be taking a backseat in the Gurnee family as his sister Jenny just graduated from Warren and will represent Gurnee in the Miss Lake County Fair Pageant in July. She will surrender her crown in August.

Through all the hustle and bustle, Heskett will be in that corner of the Warren facility, throwing the hammer and concentrating on the dream.

Area runners hold their own in Keebler

The three representatives from this area all fared well against top U.S. and international competition during the Keebler International Prep Invitational at York High School in Elmhurst last weekend.

Libertyville's Chris Brown was fifth in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 9:35.36. The winner was Marcelo Blanco of Brazil in 9:16.35.

Stevenson's Pat Joyce finished fifth in the two-mile run in 9:14.91. J.J. White of Dublin, Ohio took top honors in 9:04.10.

Libertyville's Becky Coleman was seventh in the women's two-mile, turning in an 11:13.26. Isabel Linaker of England was first in 10:48.75.

Over 250 internationally ranked high school seniors competed in the annual event.

Clay making the grade in college, world meets

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

Bill Clay is on the right track — no matter where it is.

Clay, a 1992 Libertyville grad, is competing this week in the National Cycling Championships at the Major Taylor Velodrome in Indianapolis. But that's just one of the stops during his busy summer, which includes touring Europe with the U.S. National Cycling Team.

Yet to turn 19, Clay has been in the right spot at the right time ever since he took up serious cycling about four years ago. He quickly climbed to the top of the junior ranks and was the youngest member of the U.S. cycling contingent during the 1991 Pan Am Games in Havana.

When Marian College in Indianapolis — a stone thrown by a bicycle tire away from the Major Taylor Velodrome — became the first college to offer cycling scholarships, Clay was one of the first in line. Now, other institutions of higher learning — like Georgia and Butler — are starting up scholarship programs for the sport.

Marian's faith in Clay paid off immediately — he was the national collegiate champ in matched sprints during his freshman year last September.

A matched sprint — Clay's métier — is an intense, quickly contested three laps around the track. The racers jockey for position during the first two laps and kick out the jams to the finish line on the final go-round. It can be dangerous — they reach speeds in excess of 40 mph on the acutely banked velodrome surface.

Clay just returned from two weeks in Europe, where the national team competed in the first leg of the World Cup Series in Copenhagen, Denmark. The team also competed in another world-class meet in Hannover, Germany.

Clay also fared well this spring and summer during big meets in Allentown, Pa. and Richmond, Va.

Next up is a trip to France for another World Cup Series meet. At the end of July, Clay will travel to the World Qualifiers in Minneapolis seeking a berth in the World Championships in Oslo, Norway.

Clay's current daily training regimen includes a leisurely (for him) 20 miles on the road and work on the specifics at a velodrome. When he's home, he uses the facilities at the Northbrook Velodrome. During the offseason, he spends considerable time in the weight room.

"I think my training went kind of bad this winter in regards to weight training," Clay said. "It's hard to get training in with school and everything. I'm riding faster, but I could be doing better. I'm not satisfied."

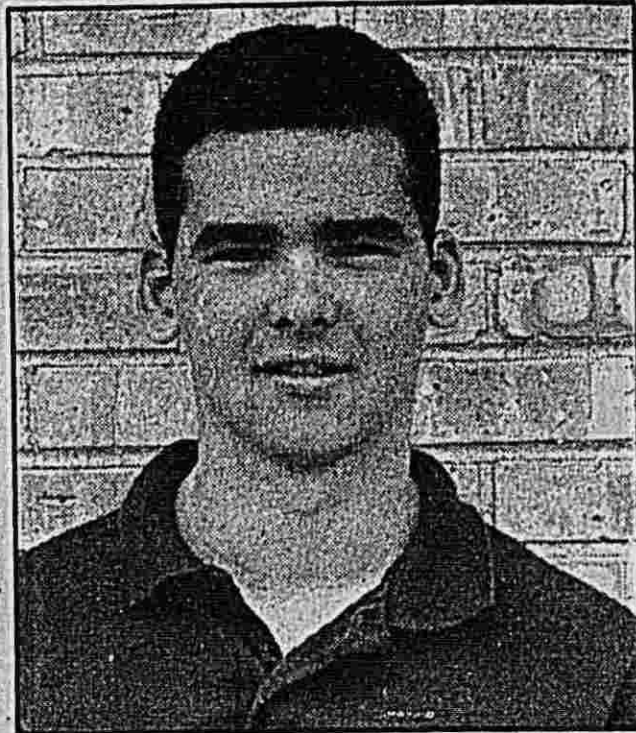

He's making the most of his scholarship, however.

"My grades are better in college than they were in high school. I seem to be able to plan my time better."

Clay gets an added boost with sponsorship from a Pennsylvania firm, Spectrum Cycles. Bikes used for matched sprints start at about $3,500.

In addition to Marian and the U.S. team, Clay is a member of Turin, a bicycle club out of Evanston.

Because cyclists don't reach their prime until their mid-20s, Clay has a bright future in the sport. His amateur zenith could be the 1996 Olympics.

Bill Clay

And there's money to be made for the best in the business. In Japan, for example, the pros race Keirin. New Mexico is in the process of setting up something like the Keirin.

"It's like dog racing — there's big-time betting," Clay said.

Levy tells 'Hawks to maintain focus

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Donna Levy returned to North Chicago High School this spring.

She was not turning in perfect handoffs for a relay team or clearing those nasty hurdles.

Instead, Levy, 22, brought a message to the Warhawks.

"Never give up and work hard and stay focused. It is OK to lose," Levy told the Warhawks.

Some of the younger and future Warhawks remember Levy, Class of 1989, from the records on the walls at NCCHS. She holds them in the 100- and 200-meter dashes and the 100- and 300-meter hurdles.

Ditra Henry was one of the first influences for Levy as NCCHS track coach. "She taught me how to hurdle," Levy said.

Levy is a success story for the Warhawks. After completing her four-year career at NCCHS, she earned a scholarship to run track and field at Eastern Illinois. She received her bachelor's degree in psychology and is working toward her masters at EIU. She is serving an internship at Warren Township Youth Services.

The Warhawks' sports seasons may be over in the winter due to the uncertain fate of the school system. But, again, Levy gave a positive view to those still donning the red and white.

"Make sure the decision you make is best for you," she said.

Levy practices every day and competed at EIU despite a heart condition. She was diagnosed as having an irregular heart beat. "It caused a shortness of breath. I was born with it. As you get older, it gets worse," Levy said.

Sports has always been a big part of the Levy household. Her older sister, Dawn, played softball at North Chicago and graduated a year earlier.

Donna Levy reads report at Warren Township Youth Services in Gurnee. Levy is a former track and field standout at North Chicago High School and Eastern Illinois.

Bader: From buffalo ties to titles

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Rick Pierce was worried the night of the sectional final game in March of 1988.

"I had given him a buffalo tie for his 50th birthday and said there is one win, one win only in it," Pierce recalled.

Overtime

As the Warren team's bus approached the gym at Waukegan East, the tie was still not visible on Darrel Bader. The intense game wore on, and went into overtime as the Bulldogs and the Blue Devils clashed for a spot in the Sweet 16.

Then at some point between the fourth quarter and overtime — or maybe earlier — Bader calmed Pierce down. "He was wearing it underneath his sweater," Pierce said.

The Blue Devils — as friends gathered at a Gurnee restaurant to honor the retiring Bader remembered vividly — went on to beat East 44-41 on Dave Sjong's three-point shot after a key steal by Derek Shelton. Warren lost to Evanston 66-61 in the Elgin super sectional.

"I should have waited one more game to wear the tie," Bader joked.

It is just such memories which make the Saturday morning shoot-around sessions and summer youth basketball camps worthwhile.

"It has been a great run. It's a wonderful life," Bader said. "The staff has made me look good for a number of years."

Chuck Ramsey, who has won several North Suburban Conference titles on the sophomore level, takes over this winter.

Bader, an ex-Waukegan player, coached at Woodland Junior High before coming to Warren in 1976-77 season and posting a 304-145 record over the years. Bader also coached underclassman football at Warren.

Among the many gifts Bader received was a net from the East gym that night five years ago. He kept a five-peat T-shirt noting the team's five straight regional titles. He gave back the net, but kept the shirt.

"His drills were very much like Bobby Knights," Chuck Slocum said. Slocum played on the first of 17 Bader-coached teams at Warren.

In addition to being a taskmaster, Bader also knew when a team needed a lighter moment.

"Absolutely the biggest thing he taught was discipline," Mike Kolar said.

Mike was a senior when younger brother Dave was rewriter. (Continued on Page 54)

Erickson bowls 'em over at seniors event

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Axel Erickson had done better than his 492 score at the Northern Illinois Senior Olympics indicated.

That didn't matter, for the 87-year-old came home with a bright, shiny new gold medal.

"I had scored better. There was not much competition. They had age brackets every four years and I was the only one in the 85-89 age group," Erickson joked.

Erickson was one of two area senior bowlers to come home with gold medals from the event at Northern Illinois University. The other was Sam Vitello, who scored a 559 series. Barb Clausser had a 450, good enough for a bronze medal.

"I bowl for fun and relaxation," Erickson said. The Gurnee resident does not shoot for the dramatic strike.

"To be consistent in bowling, the main thing is to pick up spares. If you pick up spares, the strikes will come," Erickson said.

Erickson's other activities include keeping up his home and three-lot area off the intersection of O'Plaine Road and Washington Street. He has lived there since 1939.

Erickson was born in 1905 in Osthamar, Sweden, north of Stockholm. He worked at E&E Pattern Works in North Chicago from 1934 until he retired in 1975.

Erickson bowls once a week at Lakehurst Bowl in Waukegan. He liked the lane set-up at Huskies Lanes, where the seniors competition was held.

Warren Township Seniors offers a bowling outing the last Wednesday each month.

"Some of the seniors bowl competitively, others just learn," said Sue Quigley, senior director.

"If I would have had one more good game, I would have bowled a 500 series, but I was not consistent," Clausser said.

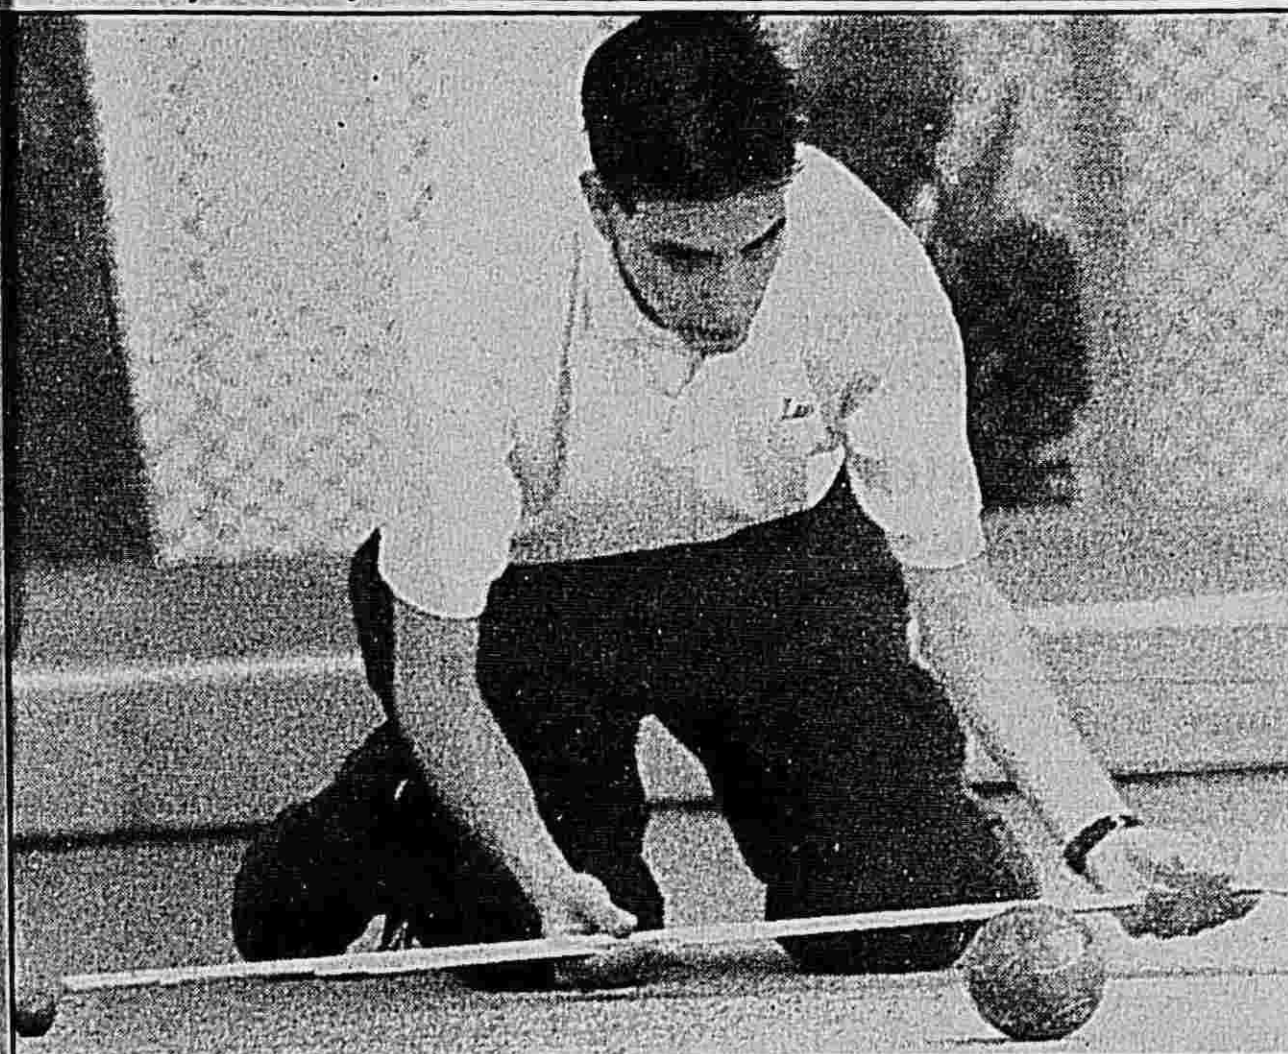

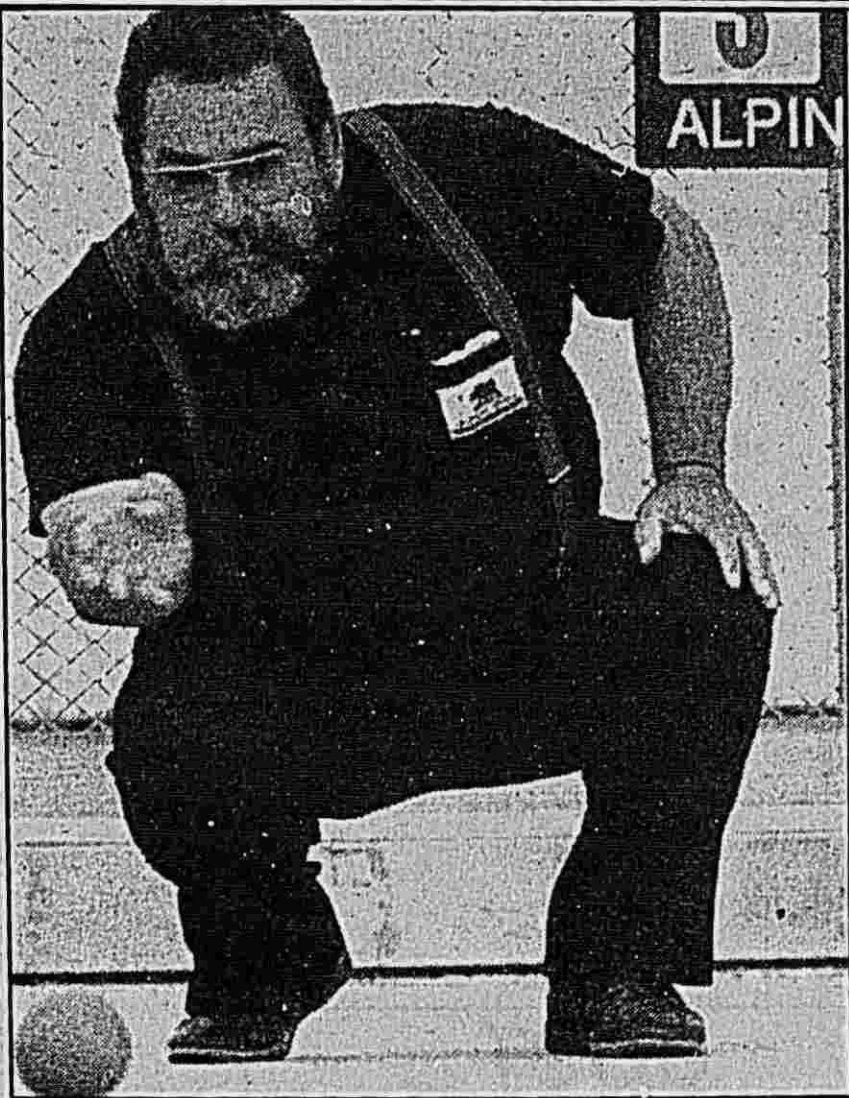

Clausser, a 30-year Wildwood resident, did not go to DeKalb in search of fame and fortune. "We just went to have fun," she said.

Over 300 bocce players converge on Alpine CC

Michael Nicosia, of San Jose, Calif., set a record by becoming the first player to win three gold medals in the 15th annual United States Bocce Championships at Alpine Country Club in Round Lake.

Over 300 players from throughout the United States participated in the eight-day event June 12-19.

Nicosia won both the singles title, defeating Mike Conti of Park Ridge 15-8, and the raffa shootout. Nicosia also was an integral part of the four-man Peninsula Bocce Club from San Mateo, Calif. that won the team title gold medal. Nicosia, Bruno Freschet, Gildo Ceciliot, and Natale Bortolin defeated the Lakeview Bocce Club of Chicago 2-0. The Lakeview club was comprised of Andy Napoleon, Robert Bertocini, Angel Cordano, and Ilio Pacini.

Teresa Passaglia of Wheeling won the women's singles gold medal, defeating Elvira Scatena of Lodi, Calif. Bob Steiner of Concord, Calif. won the B division singles gold medal, defeating Ken Dothee of Martinez, Calif.

The Peninsula Bocce Club's women's team won a gold medal by defeating the Martinez, Calif. women's team. The B division team gold medal was won by the host Alpine Bocce Club men's team comprised of Hugo Panarese, Ray Basso, Ralph Braglia, and Russ Macchione. They defeated the Alpine Bocce Club's women's team, which included Gabriella Rauzi, Rosie Cozzini, and Oleria Bianchi.

Angel Cordano of St. Petersburg Beach, Fla. won a gold medal in the volo shootout.

Over one million people in the United States play bocce, which rivals golf as the No. 1 participant sport in the world, said Phil Ferrari, event coordinator. Ferrari recently competed in an international tournament in China. The 16th annual United States Bocce Championships will be held next June in Las Vegas.

Indians look for more 'D'

The Gurnee Kaiser Indians have combined good pitching and solid hitting to win six of their first seven games.

And when the defense comes around, watch out.

The Indians improved to 6-1 with a 5-4 win over Arlington last Thursday. Chris Stranowicz gained his third win as he threw a three-hitter. His ERA remains under 2.0.

"I think we have played sporadic. Our pitching has been consistent and our hitting has been strong now, if our defense comes along we will be a complete club. I do not feel we have played our best baseball," said Chris Stranowicz, who is also team co-manager.

The Indians are at Hersey Sunday, June 27 to face Arlington Heights, a new Shoreline League team. The Indians hosted Lake Forest June 24.

The offense begins with Randy Splitt, a Carmel grad, and Rob Garafolo.

Al Liebert, who normally hits third, was called to a Venezuelan team which major league scouts look at for Class A possibilities.

Bill Stranowicz has hit two grand slams after hitting eight homers the past two seasons.

Splitt is hitting at a .500 pace, John Bartells, of Mundelein, .450 and Bill Stranowicz .300.

"I'm trying to keep it straight and keep the shoulders in and go to left field whenever possible," Bill Stranowicz said.

In addition to Chris Stranowicz at 3-0, the pitching staff consists of two lefties, Scott Lucadello from Antioch and Tom Kristof from Barrington.

Dave Farrow, a Warren grad who pitches for Southern Illinois, is on the staff as well as Jim Cooney.

How To Write A Bestseller.

Give the reader all the specifics.

Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as:

- color • size • condition
 - brand name • age
 - features • and benefits
- Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts.

Include the price.

Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

Avoid Abbreviations.

Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in-kitchen) or WSW tires (white side wall) and won't take the time to figure them out.

Include phone number & hours.

Let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

Run consecutive weeks.

Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your sales representative. Run your ad for at least two weeks.

The Lakeland Newspapers friendly classified advertising representatives are happy to assist you with your ad over the phone. They even assist you with writing your ad. Just call (708) 223-8161 to place your classified ad. Representatives will help you with your ad by phone Monday thru Thursday, 8 am to 8 pm and Saturdays 8:30 am to 2 pm. County women's golf meet July 19

The Lake County Ladies Golf Association will hold its 22nd annual Amateur Golf Tournament July 19 at Fox Lake Country Club.

Tee times will start at 8 a.m. An awards banquet will follow the day's play.

The tourney is open to all women with an established USGA handicap of 34 or under. Players may be county residents, affiliated with a county golf association or have an affiliation with an 18-hole golf league.

The entry fee is $80 and includes a 1993 LCLGA membership, greens fees, carts, prizes and dinner. The field is limited to 140 entrants — 85 percent of the players must be Lake County residents.

The deadline to enter is June 30. Forms are available at participating county golf clubs or by calling 234-3978.

CLC slates annual cheer workshop

The College of Lake County softball and volleyball teams in conjunction with the Libertyville and Zion-Benton cheerleaders will host the fifth annual cheer-leading workshops July 10 and August 14 for children ages 6-13.

The workshops will be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at CLC.

The workshops cost $10 for one session or $17 for both sessions for pre-registered participants and $12 per session for walk-ins. Each child must have a completed registration form. Forms can be obtained by calling 223-3600 or picked up at the Physical Education Center. The preregistration form can be returned by mail until July 8 to the attention of Sue Garcia.

Antioch offers Firecracker tourneys

The Antioch Fourth of July Committee is hosting its second annual sports tournaments. All events will be held in Williams Park in Antioch Friday, July 2 through Sunday, July 4.

Offered are a double-elimination crazy coed softball tourney ($30 per team), a three-point shooting contest ($3 for under 15 and $5 for over 15) and a coed volleyball tourney ($30 per team).

For more information, call Tom Shaughnessy (softball) at 395-7354, Larry Denzel (basketball) at 395-2218 or Tom Furlan (volleyball) at 838-0022.

Bader

ing the Warren record books.

"Bader built character. He was not just a coach of boys, but a builder of men," Kolar said.

Kolar said Bader's influence reaches beyond basketball. Kolar went on to play two years for College of Lake County coach Bruce Smith, who was on hand at Friday's event.

Rival coaches and longtime friends were also in attendance to give Bader a pat on the back for his 304 career wins, two sectional titles and six regional titles for the Blue Devils.

"It is always a challenge to coach against Bader because his teams are always well-prepared," Antioch coach Jeff Dresser said. Basketball was not Bader's only sport as a youth growing up in Waukegan.

"He was good at football and tennis," longtime friend Doug MacLac said.

Basketball notebook: When the Suns' Danny Ainge hit a key three-pointer to beat the Bulls, many in the audience recalled Ainge's shot which kept Notre Dame from the finals. "We used that play a few times," Bader said. . . . Antioch Coach Dresser was hoarse this night. The Sequoits had just returned from Wisconsin, where they participated in a camp. . . . Antioch grad Matt Pelland was expected back at ACHS this week. The University of Wisconsin-Stout player probably had more than a few stories to tell about his stay in South America. . . . Will there be other transfers from North Chicago High? Sean Stackhouse led the way as he is likely to attend Mundelein this fall. "It is an option for families who have the wherewithal," Bader said.

Relief pitcher gives boost for Carmel Colts' hopes

Carmel's Colt baseball team continues to stay near the top of the Mike's Memorial League standings.

The first-year team is 9-2 through 11 games, but fell to 6-1 in a battle for first with Avon.

Carmel gained a 9-2 win over Lake Villa II Monday as Matt Sturgeon earned the win in relief. He pitched three innings, surrendering two walks on no hits.

Vince Teglia led the offense with a double and triple. Eric Ugaste was 2 for 3.

"Our starters have been going pretty far, but Sturgeon has been our premier relief pitcher," Carmel manager Tony Farina said.

Carmel downed Waukegan II 13-2 as Eric Ames went the distance.

Carmel and Mundelein battled Saturday, but Mother Nature was the winner as rain halted the game with Carmel up 4-3 in the sixth inning.

"We are a young team going up against sophomores and juniors when most of our guys could still play Pony League," Farina said.

The defense has been solid, Farina reports.

Steve Golebiowski and Brad Salata, younger brother of Carmel and Gurnee Legion pitcher Curt, have gained victories.

Carmel faced a tough test at Johnsburg June 24 before facing Lake Forest at Carmel in a 4 p.m. game June 26.

Blaha's hitting, pitching leads Gurnee to second win

The Gurnee American Legion Post 771 baseball team used the hitting and pitching talents of Erick Blaha and some newcomers to notch its second win of the year.

Gurnee downed Mundelein 10-2 in District 10 play at Mundelein Friday.

Blaha was 3 for 4 with three RBIs and gained the win on a six-strikeout, four-hit performance. Blaha pitched for Antioch High.

"He has been coming around. He has potential," Gurnee manager Rick Hill said.

Newcomers were brought to the Legion squad to fill in for missing regulars. Outfielder Chris Tincher was 3 for 4 and Todd Eifert was 2 for 3 with three RBIs.

Gurnee had 10 hits.

"We are swinging the bats better. It was hard to judge against Mundelein because teams were missing players. We have to be consistent with the bats. We are leaving too many runners on base, that was the problem against Vernon," Hill said.

Vernon edged Gurnee 6-4 as Joel Dangel suffered the loss.

Gurnee stopped Antioch 4-1 behind winning pitcher Jeff Weir.

Gurnee, 2-2, did not play Highland Park because that Legion team folded. A doubleheader against Libertyville will be rescheduled.

Gurnee has the next few games at Faulkner Field as it hosts Mundelein Friday, June 25 at 6 p.m. before hosting Round Lake at 4 p.m. Saturday, June 26.

Espino All-Star game Sunday

The Round Lake Rangers crushed the Lake Zurich A's 26-2 in Hector Espino League action at Round Lake Sunday. The league-leading Rangers are 6-2.

Brian Watson was the winning pitcher in Sunday's game. Leading the Ranger offense were Jerry Fernandez with four hits; Mario Verastequi with four hits — including a homer — and five RBIs; John Hochrek with three hits and three RBIs; and Marcos Fernandez with five RBIs.

The league's all-star game will start at noon Sunday, June 27 at Wheeling High School. Rangers selected to play in the game are Hochrek, Marcos Fernandez, Jerry Fernandez, Verastequi, Blair Randolph, and Derek Hart.

Da champs

Dan Kreiner and Lavonnie Maki of Mundelein show off Chicago Bulls wear on sale at Kreiner's stand at routes 45 and 120 in Grayslake. Thousands cheered the three-peat champs at a rally in Chicago Tuesday following the Bulls' 99-98 win over the Suns.

FOOT FACTS

From The FOOT DOCTOR

Dr. Winters

Dr. Griff J. Winters & Assoc.
 Specializing in Reconstructive Foot & Ankle Surgery

BUNIONS

Bunions are a progressive deformity, that begins with a mild bump at the base of the big toe. If left untreated the big toe deviates outward and destructive arthritic changes occur. If treated early, surgery may not be needed. If surgery is indicated it is not a disabling procedure. I utilize the Swiss Compression technique which prevents cast wear and the patient may walk that same day. Other advantages to this procedure are that surgery is performed on an outpatient basis and little or no time is missed from work.

FOR A FREE CONSULTATION, CALL:

If you have the above symptoms or any other foot discomfort, you may contact Dr. Winters for a NO COST CONSULTATION to see if there may be an answer to your foot pain.

Lake County Traveling Bronco League's battle for the top was one for those fans who like short fingernails.

For there was plenty of tension before the Vernon Golden Eagles effort fell short in a 14-13 barn burner against power Lake Villa.

The game featured a grand slam by Tom DePietro for an 11-11 tie. Vernon took the lead, but only to see Lake Villa win the game in the seventh inning.

DePietro and Kevin Walter both had three hits for Vernon (8-6).

The two teams clash again, this time at Deerpath Park in Vernon Hills, for two at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 27.

DePietro showed his long-ball ability with a three-run homer which broke the game open in a 13-5 win over Gurnee Sunday.

DePietro, going into the Lake Villa game, had an on-base average of .635. Tom Thompson was at .600 and Walter at .600.

"Our bats have been coming around and we have hit the ball better," Manager Al Walter said.

Youth grid program sets clinic

The Warren Township Youth Football Program will conduct a clinic Saturday, July 10 from 1 to 5 p.m.

The clinic will be directed by the program's coaching staff and will be beneficial to all levels of youth football players, especially first-year participants. The clinic is also for boys who want to see what playing organized football is like.

The clinic will include calisthenics, agility drills, skill drills and basic instruction on offense, defense and conditioning.

Same-day registration will be available from 12:45 to 1 p.m. The cost is $5, and there is no obligation to sign up for the 1993 season.

FOOT FACTS From The FOOT DOCTOR

BUNIONS

Bunions are a progressive deformity, that begins with a mild bump at the base of the big toe. If left untreated the big toe deviates outward and destructive arthritic changes occur. If treated early, surgery may not be needed. If surgery is indicated it is not a disabling procedure. I utilize the Swiss Compression technique which prevents cast wear and the patient may walk that same day. Other advantages to this procedure are that surgery is performed on an outpatient basis and little or no time is missed from work.

If you have the above symptoms or any other foot discomfort, you may contact Dr. Winters for a NO COST CONSULTATION to see if there may be an answer to your foot pain.

Take precautions when exercising in hot weather

These days, almost everyone is exercising. The benefits of regular aerobic exercise for people of all ages are now well-documented. But it's important to exercise safely and to be aware of the weather and the effects that it could have on you. Older people are especially vulnerable to the effects of heat and humidity, and should take precautions when exercising outside in the summer.

It's a fact: If you work out hard, you'll sweat. Sweating shows that your body is regulating its own temperature by getting rid of excess body heat.

Generally, sweating is good for you. However, working out in hot weather creates a lot of body heat, and this can impair your performance. Although the body has the ability to control its own temperature, you need to take extra precautions against heat stress, which increases dramatically as there thermometer rises.

On a normal day we lose, and must replace, up to 2.5 quarts of water. With heavy exercise on a hot day, that amount can increase to three quarts per hour. Since heavy perspiration causes a major loss of water, some salt and other important minerals, exercisers need plenty of fluids to keep their muscles working smoothly, to prevent fatigue and to keep their body temperature from rising too high.

You can't rely on thirst to tell you how much water you need. By the time you're thirsty, you already may have lost enough fluids to affect your performance and possibly your health. Drinking 1 1/2 (12 oz.) glasses of water 10 to 15 minutes before working out, and four to eight ounces at 15-minute intervals throughout is recommended.

There are some warning signs that will tell you if you're suffering from too much heat. Sweat contains salt and when you lose too much salt, heat cramps result. When you body's temperature regulating mechanisms can't keep up with heat loss, heat exhaustion occurs.

If this happens to you, take plenty of fluids immediately and rest. When you start drinking and eating again after your workout, you will naturally replace the minerals and nutrients you lost, so salt tablets are not generally recommended.

The most severe form of heat stress is heat stroke. This occurs when your temperature regulating mechanism breaks down. Your skin becomes flushed, hot and dry, sweating actually stops and your temperature can rise up to 106 degrees. Heat stress is serious. It can lead to permanent brain damage. Get emergency help immediately.

To safely exercise in hot, humid weather, be sure to drink plenty of appropriate fluids, wear light-colored, loose fitting clothes of porous material, avoid the severe sun hours around noon, allow yourself time to get used to the temperature and don't be a hero. Slow down if you feel any symptoms of heat stress.

And, get in shape. At any age, fit people are better able to adjust to hot weather temperatures than the unfit, thus keeping their body temperature down and their ability to exercise up.

life every 34 seconds.

- The death rate from heart attack declined 30 percent from 1979 to 1989, but heart attack remains the number one cause of death.

Denture wearers must still see dentist regularly

Many denture wearers believe that once teeth are removed and dentures placed that regular dental examinations are no longer necessary. But nothing is further from the truth.

While the shape of the denture is permanent, oral tissues constantly change. The Chicago Dental Society urges denture wearers to visit a dentist periodically so that necessary adjustments can be made to the prosthesis and to insure that soft and hard tissues remain healthy.

"Some patients mistakenly believe they don't need to be concerned about their oral health once they have dentures," says LaDeane Fattore, DDS, MS, director of Geriatric Dentistry and the Senior Dental Outreach Program, Northwestern University Dental School. "However, the bony ridges supporting dentures shrink over time causing the dentures to become loose. This can impair the ability to chew as well as cause soreness of the gums. In addition, ill-fitting dentures can cause a 'purse-string' look to the mouth as well as emphasizing lines and wrinkles."

Denture adhesives and reliner kits should be used only temporarily—not as substitutes for professional attention.

Many denture wearers will place denture liners or thick adhesive creams into their dentures to stabilize them instead of having the dentures re-made or relined by a dentist. Well-fitting dentures require no adhesive or a small amount to retain them properly. Continued use of ill-fitting dentures can cause excessive shrinkage of the gums due to destruction of bone needed to support the dentures, fungal infections, inflammatory conditions, overgrowth of soft tissues, and even disturbances in the joints of the jaw.

"Denture wearers should be aware that improper denture cleaning can damage dental appliances," says Dr. Fattore. "Before brushing the dentures over a sink, fill the sink with water to prevent damage if dropped. Avoid use of bleaching agents such as Clorox or Lincio to remove denture stains. Bleaching agents remove the pink color from denture acrylic causing the denture base to turn an unsightly whitish-gray. Stains can be removed with a moistened paste of baking soda or by having the dentures professionally cleaned. Dentists have instruments and ultrasonic cleaners to remove stains."

Dr. Fattore stresses that it's important to clean around the metal clasps. A denture brush is helpful but too-vigorous brushing can bend metal clasps.

Dentures must be removed at night to prevent irritation and infection. However, dentures must be kept moist, and they should be stored in room-temperature water overnight to prevent warpage.

Aging can play tricks with vitamin and mineral needs

At least one out of five senior citizens may need to take extra vitamin B12 to prevent senility and other neurological disorders because they absorb the B12 in their food poorly.

According to studies at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging at Tufts University in Boston, they would be wise to get the calcium they need to maintain bones and nerve function from their diets, because the mineral is not well absorbed from a commonly used supplemental form, calcium carbonate.

The findings apply to men and women who no longer secrete enough stomach acid to absorb some nutrients as well as they used to, claims Robert M. Russell. He directs gastrointestinal and micronutrient studies at the Tufts center, which is funded by USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

The condition, called atrophic gastritis, affects at least 20 percent of people over age 60, increasing to about 40 percent of people over 80, says Russell, a physician. Atrophic gastritis is also known as hypochlorhydria or achlorhydria.

The study of 16 subjects—half of whom had atrophic gastritis—supports earlier evidence that low acidity in the gastrointestinal tract impairs absorption of the protein-bound B12 found in foods. This condition, however, does not impair absorption of the crystalline form used in supplements.

The study, reported in a recent issue of Gasteroenterology, was led by visiting scientist Paolo M. Suter, who is now at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland.

"People with atrophic gastritis may need oral B12 supplementation," Russell says. "Vitamin B12 is probably the single most important nutrient affected by aging."

He added that poor absorption of the vitamin may be responsible for age related declines in balance and pressure sensation, in muscle coordination, and in mental ability. The severe B12 deficiency that leads to pernicious anemia is due to other factors.

A study done by researchers at Columbia-Presbyterian and Harlem Hospital Centers in New York City indicates that even a mild B12 deficiency—where there's no sign of anemia—can result in neurological disorders. Older people who had serum B12 levels at the low end of the normal range had several neurologic symptoms including memory loss, however, many improved when treated with B12.

"Most elderly people don't need vitamin B12 shots," Russell explains. Since people with atrophic gastritis can absorb the vitamin in the crystalline form, they can take it as part of a multivitamin supplement, he adds.

Earlier studies have blamed poor B12 absorption on the lack of stomach acid and the digestive enzyme pepsin—both of which are needed to separate the vitamin from food protein. While this is a problem, the USDA study showed that a burgeoning bacterial population in the upper intestine, due to the friendlier, low-acid environment, was responsible for "hogging" the little B12 that was separated. Absorption improved when the volunteers were given the broad spectrum antibiotic tetracycline.

A second study at the center confirmed reports that the loss of gastrointestinal acidity significantly reduces calcium absorption from supplements containing the commonly used calcium carbonate.

The study also found that atrophic gastritis does not reduce the absorption of calcium from foods.

Results of this study with 15 older men and women support previous reports that calcium absorption from foods does not depend on gastrointestinal acidity. Likewise, calcium absorption from supplements containing calcium citrate also doesn't depend on gastrointestinal acidity. The study was led by Tamsin A. Knox of the New England Medical Center.

"That's a very important negative finding," says Russell. "Otherwise, the calcium requirement would have to increase as people got older."

Older patients have more oral problems

A study conducted by the Colgate-Palmolive Company during the final months of 1992 confirms what many experts have predicted for several years—dentists are seeing more older patients with periodontal (gum) disease, tooth root cavities, and chronic medical conditions.

Seventy-three percent of the dentists responding to the survey noted an increase in the average patient age over the last five years. According to the 1990 Census, there are more elderly than ever before (31 million) and they are an increasing proportion of the population (12.5 percent).

The study also identified dental trends for older populations which will influence dental treatment into the next century.

- Periodontal disease is increasing, particularly among patients in the 41 through 55 age range. This is not surprising because the Baby Boom generation is aging, and this group has kept its teeth longer than previous generations. Twenty-two percent of the U.S. population will be at least 55 years old by the year 2000.

- Many older adults exhibit receding gums and root exposure as a result of periodontal disease.

Fifty-six percent of the dentists reported root caries (cavities on the root of the tooth) in one of four patients over the age of 55. The majority of people over age 65 did not receive the benefits of fluoride while their teeth were forming. However, decay above the gumline tends to decrease in later years.

The Chicago Dental Society emphasizes that preventive care is the key to controlling gum disease and oral health problems. Good oral hygiene and regular visits to the dentist are essential to maintaining a healthy mouth throughout life.

Discriminatory stops

I have had the misfortune of driving through Lake Zurich at night on my way home from work. I have been pulled over 11 times in one year by the police department just because I have an older station wagon. They tell me flat out that anyone driving an older vehicle is immediately considered a suspect for burglary and DUI. Their reasoning is that an older vehicle is out of place there. This is no bologna. So, if you own an older car, stay out of Lake Zurich unless you have your communist government papers!

Hates Libertyville

Not everybody in Round Lake makes less than $20,000 a year. My family makes more than that. We live here because the people are friendly. At least we don't have to live in Libertyville or Vernon Hills who have their noses stuck up their %^&.

Seed not sod

I am from Wauconda and want to complain about the park district putting down sod. The rest of us use grass seed, it's cheaper. I guess it is fine when you are using taxpayer money. But, I think it is ridiculous.

Happy tribute

I compliment the Piggly Wiggly for incorporating the photos of old time Antioch into their renovation. It is a real tribute to Antioch.

Investigate not ticket

I am concerned with the recent rash of robberies in the Grayslake and Hainesville areas. I think the police should spend less time giving out speeding tickets and more time looking after real crimes.

Gripe is inaccurate

The bonehead who thinks that the average income of Round Lake is $20,000 is wrong. Get your facts straight before griping in the newspaper.

Doughnut patrol

Why is it that any given morning there are several Round Lake police cars parked at the White Hen in Round Lake Beach for up to 40 minutes at a time? Don't they have anything better to do in their own town? I am from Round Lake Beach.

SURE support

I am a voter and think the SURE party is doing a great job, despite what everyone says. For me, and many others you are doing an excellent job. The people of Lake Villa are behind you.

Likes cops

I think it is time to stop all of this cop bashing. It is getting out of control. There is one officer in Lake County that does deserve special notice. Good luck on Sunday.

Wants sign replaced

I would appreciate it if the Bozos who took the 55 mph sign down on Grass Lake Road would put it back.

Put it on the news

I live in Antioch and I am just blistering mad. Sunday was Father's Day and guess what? The cable was out again. My poor husband, who is also a father was in a nervous fit that he would not be able to watch the game. The cable was off from 6 p.m. Saturday to about noon on Sunday. The service line was busy! Why can't the cable people notify customers like the electric company, and call the local news. That way we could know what was going on.

Canceled party

Thanks US Cable! We ended up canceling our Bulls party Sunday because we had no idea if you would fix it in time. I am quitting the service and getting a dish!

On my TV too

I want to thank the person who called to complain about the Lake Villa radio operator. I just moved into the area and thought it was a problem with my aerial. It was a relief to discover it was not just me. Hopefully, if enough people complain it will be taken care of.

All pagan

Why does anyone care about the pagans? From them we get Christmas, Easter, Valentines Day, and many other holiday traditions.

Speeding mouth

What does the average income of Round Lake have to do with Vernon Hill speeders? If you really live in Vernon Hills you should obey the rules of the road. FYI, the average income in Round Lake is higher than $20,000. You should check your facts before you run your mouth.

No Bulls

Anyone who plans to pay their June cable bill in full should have their heads examined. Last Friday, the Jones Cable Service had no service and we were not able to watch the Bulls game. It is time we withhold payment to any of the cable companies until they can show us they are investing it in state of the art equipment to prevent the service from going out in bad weather.

Here's the beef

The trucks going around door-to-door selling meat is a reputable company. They have very good stuff and I recommend them to anyone.

Think it's him?

This is Rush Limbaugh calling in. "Jump off a bridge."

Procedural problems?

How can the Lake Villa tax assessor lower taxes at this time of year? The 30 day allowable protest period always falls in December. Are legal notices, published in the papers necessary? Hopefully the powers that be will take notice. I am from Lindenhurst and would like my taxes lowered too.

Riding dangers

I am 16 years old from Wauconda. I try to ride my bike around the area safely, but it is useless. Wherever I go someone is backing up without looking or does not give me any lee-way. I did not know that in order to ride my bike I have to wonder if I will get home alive. And, you people who honk your horns at bikers, remember we have as much right to the road as you do.

The car police

Hey you, the driver parked in the loading zone of Omni in the white Chevrolet on June 19! You had the motor running, smoking with a small child in the back, and wasting gas. Wasting gas, illegally parked, and abusing a child with smoke. Proud of yourself?

Unnecessary holes

Where was the city engineer when the mayor's office building was being redone? Probably digging more ditches. Who is this guy? He built these ugly ditches when the new storm sewers worked fine. These ditches are dangerous and an eyesore.

Summer lover

Aghhh. It's summer. I woke up at 7 a.m. on Saturday because the neighbors kids were outside yelling. It is just as well since I need to get up early to pick up the beer cans from the teenager's beer blast the night before. I am looking forward to nap this afternoon on my cool deck while the neighbor's dog barks continually. It almost muffles the sound of their air conditioner which runs from May to October regardless of the weather. This is Grayslake.

Televisionless

It is 7 p.m. on a Saturday night. And, guess what? You got it, the cable went out as usual. When are they going to do something about it. It is about time.

Missing picture

I am calling on behalf of all of Antioch when I say, what is it about cable and rain? Since they know the cable goes out every time it rains, why don't they do something to prevent it? It is Saturday night and it has been out over 3 hours. What's wrong with this picture? It is time to dissolve the monopolies and look towards competition for public services? We should have a voice and Lipservice is a great place to begin. Speak up!

More missing pictures

Well, we had a few drops of rain and we were without cable. It started Saturday night and we were still without on Sunday morning. Lake County you better do something.

Loosen the purse

Now that Sue Hanson has her job back, let us see if she can handle the general assistance fund. My sister is a single mother with three children and was denied because she made a little too much money. She was turned away with nothing to help her. In years past, we were generous. Why is the fund $14,000 but only $4,000 was given away? The township should help those in need, not encourage them to go on welfare.

Rude and crude

I am from Round Lake Beach and have noticed that someone else is complaining about the moron with the ham radio. He has interfered with every Bull game, his language is obscene, and I would like to find out who it is. When I do, I am going to smash that radio with a sledge hammer. You're rude, crude and obnoxious. I am a radio DJ and I am going to contact the FCC.

AIDS alert

I dated a Barrington Hills man for three years. He is 61 years old. I have known him for 12 years and thought that AIDS is out of the question. Now, I find out he has been having unprotected sex with several other women. Thank heavens I found out. I am over the hurt and am now concerned about these other women. Men like this should have their names published. By the way, he is in the same business as Norton was on the Honeymooners. I was tested and am AIDS free.

Compelled to write

After reading Lipservice for several months, I am compelled to call myself. The very freedom that allows you to speak your mind is being threatened as you read this. Just wait until you see what President Clinton, the New World Order, John D. Rockefeller, the federal reserve have in store for you. If you knew you would stop bickering about the little stuff. We need to realize the power the Constitution give us. Wake up and demand that our elected officials give the government back to the people of America. United we will stand, divided, by bickering, we will fall.

Wishing weedless

I am disgusted with the annual weed patch at the entrance of Lake Street Plaza in Antioch. If the owner can't take care of that mess, maybe one of the tenants can. Let's hope this gets results.

Timing is everything

Politics as usual for the Lake Villa school board. They waited until the teachers contract was signed before granting raises to the administrative employees. Way to go Lake Villa. That shows us where you are coming from.

Can't believe eyes or ears

Are my eyes and ears playing tricks on me? I thought that Lake Villa school district was having financial difficulties. They reached a final agreement with a 5 percent increase with the teachers. Now I hear they gave the administrative employees a 20 percent raise. Did someone die and leave us a bundle?

Tighten laws

Are your kids victims of delinquent child support payments with little or no action taken by the authorities? We are told that no action can be taken for another 6-8 weeks. Anyone interested in sounding off here? I want to start a petition to have the Illinois Legislature to change the laws which are way too lax. I am forming a committee, so let's hear from you. I am in Long Lake.

Anti jet skier

I want to get the jet skis off Bangs Lake in Wauconda. This is something else. They ride around the backs of boats. And, "Get off my TV," they do make some kind of adapter to filter out that interference. This column is great.

Clarifying the issue

I want to let the child, whose mother drives around the Downs Syndrome child, know that we are not saying the boy is not nice or a beautiful child. It is just that he cannot comprehend or physically play in any group of the iceless hockey teams.

Beauty and the Beast on ice

Turning the critically acclaimed animated feature film Beauty and the Beast into a dazzling, larger-than-life ice extravaganza was no small challenge for Walt Disney's World on Ice Producer Kenneth Feld and his creative team.

Lumiere invites Belle to enjoy amenities of the Enchanted Castle.

Designers and choreographers along with hundreds of artists, tailors, carpenters and craftsman of all kinds, worked for nearly a year to create the $6 million spectacular that will open Jan. 26 through Feb. 7 at the Chicago Stadium.

With dramatic skating by an international cast of champions, spectacular lighting and special effects and exquisite costumes, big production numbers become sparkling, one-of-a-kind entertainment extravaganzas. Twenty-six wonderfully detailed scenic curtains take audiences from Belle's quaint French village to the Beast's castle or a dark, creature filled forest.

Walt Disney's World on Ice is one of the first traveling shows to utilize the cutting-edge technology of the Meyer Sound SIM System II.

Tickets for Walt Disney's World on Ice presents Beauty and the Beast are on sale at the Chicago Stadium Box Office, 1800 West Madison and all Chicago area Ticketmaster locations.

Price are $15.50, $12.50 and $9.50, with a limited number of $25 ringside seats available for all performances. To order tickets by phone, call (312) 559-1212. For general information, call (312) 733-5300. For group discounts, call (312) 951-0742.

Walt Disney's World on Ice comes to the Bradley Center in Milwaukee, March 23-28.

Darts

nights, the newer plastic-dart competition for electronic darts matches on Tuesday nights.

The association's two 14-week seasons begin in early September, and in early January. Association matches include a tournament each spring to raise money for area charities.

Although taverns sponsor most NIDA teams—and most dart teams internationally for that matter, McDowell pointed out—anyone who's attended a NIDA match knows that its members consider darts very much a family sport.

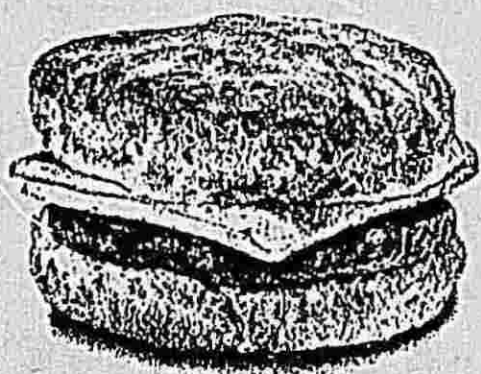

"If there's a game everyone in the family can enjoy," she said, "this is it."

That certainly seems the case.

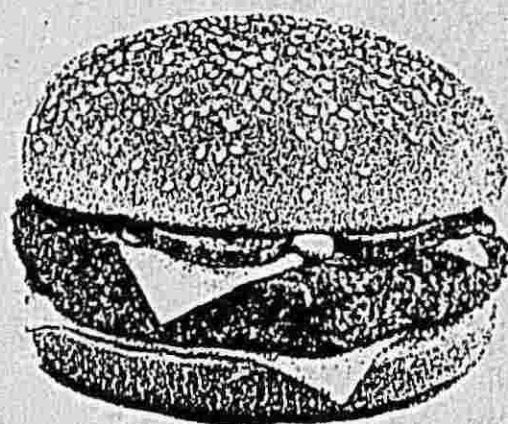

During the playoffs, a family or two competed as teams, and boys and girls joined scores of adult team boosters always sitting or standing at some competitor's elbow, sharing in a win or a loss, appearing as much a part of the game as the dart itself.

For more information on the Northern Illinois Dart Association or dart competition in your community, call Steve Pavlin at (708) 356-8657 or Julie McDowell at (708) 356-2622.
